WOMEN SING PRAISES AS HOSPITAL FUND IS LAID

Committees Report Sum of $25,000 Raised for Wesley Memorial at Meeting in Church Saturday Night

PLAN CAMPAIGN NOW TO COVER WHOLE SOUTH

Appreciation of Aid Given by The Journal in Collecting Funds Is Shown by Rising Vote of Thanks

When the last report was in and the last pledge was recorded, shortly before 10 o'clock last night and it was seen that the women's campaign for Wesley Memorial hospital had reached its goal, the workers assembled in the Wesley Memorial church and sang the hymn and sang it with fervor.

Over $25,000 in pledges was gathered by the women in Atlanta after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon before the final meeting convened at 1 o'clock last night. Remarkable as that performance would have been, it was not the most marvelous of the evening, when many possible contributors could not be at their places of business. One committee reported that it found a business house or offices closed during the afternoon.

In exact figures, $12,777 was reported as having been raised last night. The balance of $141.55 was underwritten by the Methodist church and the fund of $25,000 stood intact.

Monday morning at 11 o'clock the ladies will meet again at 11 o'clock in the Hotel Vinson, once more to entertain further returns and make further plans for their work.

The management has extended every courtesy to the campaign, and the ladies have requested that public acknowledgment be made of its kindness.

At 11 o'clock the Methodist church of Atlanta this morning opened its collection which will be taken for the Wesley Memorial hospital fund. Every additional cent in needed for the amount stands exactly at $25,000, and it is going to be used.

As G. Candler, who offered of $2 for over 31 the ladies raised was the last of the campaign, stated last night that he will not be satisfied until the Wesley Memorial hospital is further enlarged and a promise to stand with us will follow you very deeply.

The completion of the $25,000 Atlanta fund was the offer of Mr. Candler of $125,000 more, to be deposited at the rate of three to one in fact at the $25,000.

WOMEN BIG FACTORS IN JOURNAL'S M. & M. RACE

Fair Sex Making Men Move Lively to Keep Pace in Battle of Votes

They are going some! Take it from me who knows, and who can speak with authority, that there never was another contest where as much keen interest, as much hostile and persevering shown as in the Journal's M. & M. contest. Organizations composed entirely of fair sex are showing up "how to act votes" and the men follow in trying to hold up to the pace set by them. This may be or may not be the sign of "votes for women" nevertheless, women have a chance to vote in the

SPEER CHARGES TO BE SIDETRACKED BY HIS QUITTING BENCH?

Movement Has Taken Shape To Retire Jurist at An Early Date by Special Act of Congress

GEORGIA DELEGATION IS SAID TO FAVOR PLAN

Pending Definite Conclusion, Probe Committee Is Expected to Defer Its Report

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(Associated Press.)—Originating with the late Senator Bacon and Congressman W. C. Adamson, a movement has taken shape to address the charges against Judge Speer, of the south Georgia district, and to retire him from the bench by an act of congress.

The plan of premature retirement for Judge Speer originated and has proceeded on the theory that it offers the easiest and most expeditious method of clearing up a difficult and unsatisfactory situation in the southern district.

Judge Speer is now 61 years old and has been on the federal bench since 1885. He will not be eligible for reappointment until he becomes 70 years of age. He has been a member of the House of Representatives for many years and has been a special act to relieve him from duty.

The members of the Georgia congressional delegation while reluctant about the proposed plan of premature retirement for the judge are understood to favor the movement.

Some of them have been in conference with members of the House of Representatives concerning the details of the plan but it is understood that nothing definite has been agreed upon.

It may be stated on the best authority that consideration of premature retirement for Judge Speer is in no wise prejudicial charge that he has been investigated by a subcommittee of the judiciary committee. Pending a definite conclusion as to the retirement plan the subcommittee it is understood that they will consider of its report on the investigation.

While it cannot be said positively that the judiciary committee regards the retirement plan, per se, as favorable, it is willing to accept some measure of escape from an impeachment trial, which probably was pending a session of congress in a campaign year.

CARRANZA TO ALLOW AMERICAN CONSULS TO GIVE PROTECTION

Consents to Have Them Look After Foreigners Whose Own Governments Have No Representatives

SECRETARY BRYAN SILENT. CHANGE FOREIGN POLICY?

Officials State General's Demands Decided Change in Attitude of European Powers

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(Associated Press.)—General Carranza has consented to allow American consuls to look after the interests of foreigners in parts of Mexico under the control of the constitutionalists, where their own governments have no consular representatives.

Where there are such representatives, he suggests that even where their governments have recognized Huerta, these consuls may occasionally be called upon to look after the interests of their citizens.

This is the substance of a telegraphic report made to Secretary Bryan today by American Consul Simpich at Nogales. Copies of the communication have been furnished to the various diplomatic representatives in Washington by Secretary Bryan without comment.

The text of General Carranza's reply to Consul Simpich was as follows: "You know, the department of Washington has communicated with me through yourself and the American consul at Hermosillo to make two classes of representations to me, both unofficial, the one concerning American citizens, the other non-American foreigners."

At 1:30 this morning he was at the station, and he was seen by Albert McKnight, colored, one of the many individuals made famous by the Frank case, who disappeared after making an affidavit a few weeks ago, in which he repudiated his testimony against Leo Frank, has been found by The Journal.

Young Woman, However, Iterates Statement Made at Trial That She Knew Frank's Character Was Bad

Four of the affidavits from women witnesses in the Frank case were made public by the attorneys for the defense of the condemned man on Saturday afternoon. One of the women who testified against Frank's character was Mrs. Nettie Miller, who said that she was offered $1,000 as a bribe to give evidence against Frank.

Probably the most interesting of the affidavits is that of Mrs. Mattie Miller, who declares that she was offered $1,000 as a bribe to give evidence against Frank.

Mrs. Miller in talking with a Journal reporter Saturday evening corroborated every statement made in her affidavit. She declared that Collier represented himself to her as a man of high character and that she was offered $1,000 as a bribe to give evidence against Frank.

SOLDIER BOYS SPECULATE ON ENCAMPMENT SITE

Many Want to Take Another
Trip to St. Simons
Island

According to the poet, in the springtime a young man's mind turns lightly to the thoughts of love, but not so with the soldier boys of the Fifth regiment, N. C. of Georgia. As the road all summer time draws near the quest of annual encampment is occupying the minds of both officers and men as there is much, surprise me to where the encampment will be held this summer.

Every other year is known among military men as "encampment year" and under the usual schedule this year is the year for a joint camp with the regular infantry and cavalry, but now that the seventeenth has been ordered to encamp such a plan will be impossible.

Under the changed conditions, and since it is to be a regimental affair, a number of sites and places have been considered and it seems pretty evident that if left to the boys, St. Simons island will be selected in addition to this location being a very desirable place for the encampment. It is pointed out that the government and state have already built a camp there, with water lines to the camp site, erected bath houses and established a telephone system, thereby eliminating all this expense if the same place should be selected.

It is considered certain beyond any reasonable doubt, says Colonel Orville J. Hall, that the regiment will go into camp somewhere, and each company is making a quiet hunt for men to fill their ranks. The rule requiring three months previous enrollment for recruits to join before April 5 to get in this year on the usual per diem ration and transportation allowance.

Nine recruits were examined on March 2 and fourteen on March 3, one of the new companies enlisted 27 men within a period of two weeks past previous to the annual inspection in February.

ANSLY ANNOUNCES BIG REALTY DEVELOPMENT
Peachtree Road to Be Connected With Oglethorpe University by Boulevard

The opening of one of the biggest real estate developments of the year, consisting of lots from one to five acres in size, overlooking the city line of the Capital City Country club and Silver Lake, has been announced by Edwin F. Madox.

Peachtree Road is to be connected with the Oglethorpe university grounds by a boulevard, "Oglethorpe University Road," sixty-six feet wide. Country home sites are to be on either side of this boulevard. The land at this point is on a high plateau.

This boulevard beginning at Peachtree road, will run north of the Capital City club grounds, into DeKalb county and to the Oglethorpe university grounds. Space is reserved for a right-of-way for a car line.

Part of the Capital City Country club golf links is to be extended into the new tract.

Robert F. Madox, president of the Capital City club, and T. Julian McGill, chairman of the golf committee, have written letters to Mr. Madox heartily endorsing this new development.

It is thought that Fulton and DeKalb counties will jointly pave this road.

Robert F. Madox, in his letter to Mr. McGill, characterized this as "one of the most important developments made in the northern end of Fulton and the western part of DeKalb counties for many years."

Wives to Remain Here as Soldiers Move to Border

Refugees Crowd Towns; Leave
No Room for Women and Children—Sergeant Jewell
Married Yesterday

Wives of officers and men of the Seventeenth infantry must remain behind at Fort McPherson when the regiment leaves early this week for Eagle Pass, Tex., to patrol the border.

Sergeant John M. Jewell, of Company K, and Miss Ella Purvine were married yesterday afternoon just before news came that the regiment must leave Atlanta not later than next Thursday and proceed to Eagle Pass, instead of Laredo, Tex.

Their wedding was the outcome of a romantic courtship. But hardly will their honeymoon begin before the ascent of Company K and any other soldier of the regiment will bid good-bye to Atlanta and board a train for Eagle Pass.

The seventeenth is to act as patrol Americans. But even police duty will seem easier enough for anxiety to the wives and the young bride who remain behind at Fort McPherson.

When the regiment entrains early this week the thought of active duty will lighten the troops. But the parting will be sad for those who remain behind and wait day by day for news from the border.

The telegram bringing word yesterday of the time the regiment leaves will be followed by detailed orders. Washington will not refer to the requirement that wives of officers and men remain behind.

The war department made this suggestion several days ago, and explained that the refugees overcrowding the border leave no room for bringing wives of the troops. Later, if more accommodations are secured, those who remain anxiously at Fort McPherson may join their husbands in the little border town.

Colonel Thomas Griffin, new commander of the Seventeenth, will arrive in Atlanta this morning at 9:45 o'clock, and the regiment will be ready to train for Texas when the railroads provide cars.

"We could leave today," said Major George W. Martin, acting commander. "But I can't tell when we will leave, but that it will be some time before Thursday."

DESERTING CHILDREN
Judge Gives Him a Year in Chain-Gang, Then Suspends
Sentence

On a charge of not supporting his five little children in his home from 1 to 8 years old, Gus Trammel, formerly employed by the Spaulding Foundry company, was fined $200 or he will be sent to the chain-gang by Judge Andy Calhoun, of the criminal court of Atlanta.

Judge Calhoun suspended sentence for 6 months, during that time he would not send the children to school their father to the gang.

Mrs. Trammel, who has been working for months in a department store to earn what she could for the children and herself, appeared in court with her mother, Mrs. John G. Caird, 267 Woodward avenue. Mrs. Trammel said she married Gus Trammel in 1910. She said that he has seldom, since then, had a steady job and that he has been out of the state for months recently.

Assistant Probation Officer R. L. Hollingsworth appeared against Trammel. He stated that there were four children and one pregnant woman against the defendant in the recorder's office, being disorderly on the street. These men have not yet been paid because the cases were continued by Trammel's attorneys.

The club has decided to repeat the performance, this time for the benefit of the charity fund of the Atlanta lodge of Elks.

Members of the Players' club have been interested in the manner in which the Elks' fund is disbursed, and as a result informed Elks' ruler A. L. Dunn Saturday morning that the club will give the performance on the evening of Tuesday, March 31.

The same cast will appear in the play, which will be different from the first performance only because of more elaborate stage settings.

Mr. Dunn and other prominent Elks, who are boosting the performance, expect a very large attendance, on account of the unusual success of the first performance.

Tickets for "The Genius" will be placed on sale next week.

COUNSEL FOR RAILROADS QUESTIONED ABOUT RATES

Hearing Before Special Examiner Watkins Involves Mo., Ark. and Okla.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 14.—Attorneys for railroads in Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma were questioned today by representatives of the railroad commission of the three states in the closing session of the hearing before Edgar Watkins, special examiner of the interstate commerce commission. The railroads were asked to explain why the three southern states were denied a two-cent passenger rate when Nebraska and Kansas enjoyed this rate. The commission of the three southern states are seeking to secure from the commission an order requiring the railroads to reduce the passenger rates on interstate traffic from three to two cents per mile.

The railroad attorneys testified the railroads have spent $100,000 in the three states in the fight to oppose the reduction rates. George B. Findlay, attorney for the Oklahoma commission, charged the railroads were fighting to avoid paying rebates of approximately $1,000,000 in Oklahoma alone, if the fight eventually lost.

PROVIDE FOR REDEMPTION. These rebates would become due upon the presentation of coupons now issued with all passenger tickets by railroads in the state, providing for redemption by the road. The railroads are set about the two-cent rate by finally ordered.

During the examinations of the attorneys, announcements came from Oklahoma that the Kansas public utility commission had been notified by representatives of Kansas railroads that the road would dismiss suits pending in federal court seeking to prevent the enforcement of the two-cent rate. The railroad attorneys said the dismissal would be to the financial benefit of the roads involved, but because the roads could not afford to continue the suits in all the states at the same time.

Representatives of the Atchafalaya, Texas and Santa Fe and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroads offered further testimony to show that the earnings of the railroads under the two-cent rate were much less than under the three-cent rate.

WILSON URGES DEMOCRATS OF TENNESSEE TO UNITE

Mr. Wilson, it is believed these Republicans will act on this resolution. That the attitude of the administration and the president's attitude toward the Democratic delegation in both houses of congress was indicated tonight by the smiles of contentment that illuminated their faces.

The statement was originally prepared was drafted in the president's own handwriting, after which it was dictated to a stenographer and given to the press as follows:

"My judgment is clear and decided that it is the duty of all Democrats in Tennessee to accommodate any party they may have had in the past and stand solidly together for the sake of the prestige and success of the party throughout the nation. The nation is now accepting the services of the party and every Democrat should consider it part of his duty and privilege to contribute to the heavy team work which has in recent months made the party so effective to the nation.

"As I see the situation, the causes which divided the party in Tennessee no longer exist. The issues which caused the division have been settled. The thought of every Democrat should now be bent earnestly toward means of union and cooperation and common national service. I do not see how, otherwise, the Democrats of the state can pull with Democrats of the nation or the country be enabled to judge what Tennessee thinks of the part of the administration in Washington."

SOUTH SIDE CITIZENS APPEAL FOR COMMISSIONER

George B. Findlay, of College Park, Is Selected as Suitable Man for County Board

The citizens of College Park, East Point, Hapeville, Den Hill, Battle Hill, in each every voting precinct of Fulton county on the south side, both out and in the city of Atlanta, make an appeal to the voters of Fulton county to give them representation on the board of commissioners this year. Those citizens do not appeal to the prejudice of any section of the county, or to any political clique or clan, but base their plea on a basis of fairness.

Prominent newspapermen from all over the south and several from the big eastern and western cities are assembling in Atlanta for the twelfth annual meeting of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' association, which starts here Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the Hotel Ansley.

A full program for the convention has been announced. It includes addresses by eminent publishers not only in the south, but from New York and Chicago. The convention continues through Tuesday afternoon. The opening session will be confined largely to reports of officers and committees and the election of officers for the coming year. Later a place for holding the 1915 convention will be selected.

The address Monday morning will be by Don C. Settle, manager of the New York World, on the subject, "The Editorial Ideal and Good Business." The "Editorial Ideal and Good Business," Dr. Rogers, publisher of the New York Globe, is another figure of the convention. He arrived in the city yesterday and is stopping at the Piedmont hotel. Mr. Rogers is one of the leading newspaper men of the country, and his address will be a feature of the meeting.

Most of the other sessions of the convention will consist of addresses by experts in both business and editorial departments. Among the speakers will be: James Rogers, publisher of the New York Globe; Russell Williams of Chicago; Joel Hunter, of Atlanta; V. H. Johnson, Birmingham News; St. Louis, Richmond Times-Dispatch; R. W. Brown, Louisville Times; W. L. Clayton, Atlanta Constitution; C. M. J. Moore, Memphis Commercial Appeal; D. B. Moore, New Orleans Times Democrat; J. M. Thompson, New Orleans Times; P. P. Glass, Montgomery Advertiser; W. F. Stanley, Tampa Tribune; J. H. Allison, Nashville Tennessean-American; George F. Auer, Atlanta Georgian; F. W. R. Hissman, Jacksonville Times-Flour; W. C. Johnson, Chattanooga News; Curtis Johnson, Knoxville Sentinel; A. J. Clarkson, Houston Post; W. R. Sullivan, Columbia Record; Charles D. Atkinson, Atlanta Journal; G. A. McCall, Jacksonville Times-Flour.

DR. JOHN R. PRICE. FLIPPEN, Ga., March 14.—Dr. John R. Price died at his country home near Flippen Sunday evening at 8:15 in his thirty-fourth year.

The above are the basic principles on which Mr. Findlay has launched his campaign for county commissioner, on the ticket as candidate at large. In launching this campaign the citizens supporting him, now Mr. Findlay, make no appeal to any political ring, but on a basis of fairness to all the voters of the county.

Mr. Findlay is a resident of College Park. He is connected with the Crane company of Atlanta by profession he is a civil and mechanical engineer and as such, if elected, will be in a position to give these departments of the county valuable assistance.

Mr. Findlay is universally popular throughout the county. He has the hearty endorsement of those who know him. He opposes no particular candidate that is now in the race, nor is he supporting any other but puts his candidacy in the hands of his friends, and with these appeals to all the voters of the county. NEGRO IS LOCKED UP FOR KILLING ANOTHER

Accused Returns to Scene of Crime and Is Pointed Out by Bystander

After having been stabbed in the heart, Richard Fletcher, an 18-year-old negro, said to have resided at 353 East Hunter street, ran a half block before he was killed Saturday night before he was killed.

Fletcher was stabbed by another negro, named Joe Edwards, of 25 Oakland avenue, who, according to witnesses, became enraged when he saw Fletcher come out of a fish restaurant near the corner of Decatur and Port streets, with Ann May Vespey, a Porto woman.

Without a word Edwards ran up to Fletcher and stabbed him and then disappeared through a side street. A half hour later while Patrolman Whitely was standing by the body of the dead negro waiting for the coroner to take charge of it, a white man in the crowd pointed to a negro who had just come up and was viewing the body, remarking:

"There he is now; there's the man who killed him."

The negro broke through the crowd and started running out Decatur street. Patrolman Whitely was too heavy to overtake him, but knowing that Plain Clothes Officer Millan and Watson were a block away on Decatur street, he fired his pistol twice in the air to attract their attention. The warning was successful, and the two plain clothes men stopped the fleeing negro and placed him under arrest. He admitted his name was Joe Edwards and that he had done the stabbing. He was taken to police headquarters and locked up on a murder charge.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 14.—Mrs. Tanka Holstad, a widow twenty-seven years old, was murdered in her doorway here today. The murderer, who escaped, is believed by the police to be a man whose attention had been refused.

The victim's head was severed with a knife practically severing her head from her body.

All Roads Are Level Roads to the Indian Motorcycle

"RUSHING" a hill is an unknown experience to the Indian rider. "A twist of the wrist" silently gives the command to the motor for more power. And the power is there. It responds instantly. The rider feels that peculiar "bite"—a thrilling assuring sensation of the answering motor!—and then the speed deftly picks up—picks up—picks up—without a moment's hesitation. The steepest grade offers no trouble to the Indian-mounted man.

Rough roads, too, mean nothing to the Indian tourist. With his machine fitted with footboards and that incomparable, inimitable comfort feature, the Cradle Spring Frame, shocks and jars are dispelled. Indian riding is smooth riding whatever the condition of the highway.

With stupendous power—with perfected comfort devices—all roads are level roads to the Indian.

FUNNY-BONES FRACTURED BY JOHN KENDRICK BANGS

Famous Humorist Lives Up to His Reputation on Visit to Atlanta

John Kendrick Bangs stood outside the Carnegie library Saturday afternoon while the photographer took his picture with young Russell Bridges, Jr.

Russell, Jr., refused to stand still. "Just make him concentrate by searching for a hair on the top of my head," said Mr. Bangs.

The effect was both instantaneous and complete, for when it is known that the bald doer on Mr. Bangs' pate boasts not a single hair on his head, it is no wonder that Russell, Jr.'s contemplation of it was intense to say the least.

John Kendrick Bangs was in Atlanta with all the other celebrities gathered together by Russell, Jr.'s son, who is head of the Alhambra Lyceum bureau in Atlanta.

Mr. Bangs is, as you know, probably the foremost humorist now living in America. His looks are a tonic. His witty speeches an electric current.

As toastmaster at the banquet to the Alhambra, he at the Capital city club Saturday night, he was responsible for many a broken funny-bone. Those who escaped fracture breathed a sigh of relief at the news that Mr. Bangs departed later in the evening for St. Augustine, Fla., while at the same time their hearts were heavy with regret.

SCORES FALSE EXEMPTION ABOUT TOLLS

several reports attacking the repeal plan.

Says Tolls Exemptions
Would Cost $20,000,000

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, March 14.—The exemption of coastwise shipping using the Panama canal from the payment of tolls would mean a loss for the first ten years of $20,000,000, said Prof. Henry R. Johnson, of the University of Pennsylvania, tonight at a dinner of the University of Pennsylvania men of New York. This loss, he said, would have to be borne by tax payers of the United States.

Professor Johnson was appointed special United States commissioner of Panama traffic tolls by President Taft, and served as such in 1911-1912.

"To enable the canal to carry itself commercially without being a continuing burden on tax payers of the country," said Professor Johnson, "it will be necessary to obtain revenue of about $10,000,000 per annum. This total is made up of $5,000,000 for maintenance and operation; $5,000,000 payable as an annuity to the republic made up of the $15,000,000 invested in the canal, and $2,500,000 to provide a sinking fund of 1 per cent to return to the treasury the cost of the canal during the next fifty years.

This revenue must be obtained mainly from the tolls collected from the vessels that use the canal. If all vessels paid tolls the revenue of the canal at the end of ten years would cover the annual outlay for operating expenses and charges on capital. If owners of American ships engaged in the coastwise trade are exempted from the payment of tolls, the revenue will not suffice to make the canal self-supporting. To make the coastwise shipping from the payment of tolls means a decrease of at least $20,000,000.

Secretary of War Garrison was a speaker at the dinner.

His speech was confined mainly to a short description of the department of war, the sale of the Panama canal to the army and said he believed the Panama canal could not be operated without the army engineers, nor could the canal zone have been rendered habitable without the aid of the army's military officers.

SHOE CONCERN TO OPEN ANOTHER BIG STORE

Stewart Co. Will Open Branch
on Marietta street for Men and Boys Exclusively

Announcement was made yesterday by the Fred S. Stewart shoe company, of 25 Whitehall street, Atlanta, and 606 Church street, Nashville, Tenn., of its lease of the store at 40 Marietta street, that will be used as a local branch selling exclusively men's and boys' shoes.

This branch store has become necessary because of the fact that the company has completely outgrown its Whitehall quarters and needs new room in order to conduct its ever increasing business. Mr. Stewart said that he expected to open the new place of business on or about April 1, with an entirely new stock of seasonable and stylish shoes. The formal announcement of the opening will be made just prior to the opening.

The growth of the business of the company in Atlanta has been nothing short of phenomenal and only the branch store can take from that on Whitehall street the tremendous overflow of business, especially in men's and boys' shoes.

PINT OF TIGER BOOZE IN TWENTY MINUTES

The record for whisky-drinking in Fulton county was handed to L. V. Rivers by Recorder Pro Tem Preston in police court Saturday afternoon. When that going man calmly enough, and with clear eye and steady hand, admitted that he drank a pint of tiger booze off Decatur street in twenty minutes Friday night.

His deep-throated ability resulted in a small riot kicked up by his exuberance in a local theater and his arrest. It also resulted in a choice of paying the city of Atlanta $1.75 or working eleven days on the stockade.

Meat Eaters Must Watch the Liver

Keep Alimentary Tract Flushed by Taking Jacobs' Liver Salt Occasionally

The heavy meat diet has a large percentage of waste and leaves a mass of undigested, fermenting food to generate poisonous gases and cause headache, constipation, indigestion, biliousness and rheumatism. If one indulges in meat, then occasionally before breakfast take Jacobs' Liver Salt to flush the alimentary tract and wash away this fermentation and uric acid deposit, so that liver and kidneys may proceed with the natural daily elimination necessary to keep the system clean and healthy.

Jacobs' Liver Salt is the greatest known liver stimulant. It flushes the whole alimentary canal, loosens packed and clogging waste and causes natural elimination without force. Take it on arising or when you feel badly, and in an hour you are in splendid condition. Never gripes or nauseates.

For constipation, biliousness, sour stomach, Jacobs' Liver Salt is better than calomel; it acts just as surely, more quickly and without the dangerous risk. Calomel forces and always weakens. Mrs. R. C. Rambo, president of the Women's Auxiliary, presided over the meeting last night.

"Ladies, we have just finished two of the most strenuous weeks of our lives," said she, and then complimented her audience with "I have never seen a more devoted and loyal and efficient body of workers."

Mrs. Henry H. Tucker, chairman of the ways and means committee, discussed this heartily, adding: "I haven't even had time to ponder my nose this afternoon."

"We must not think our work is over, however," she continued, "we have just begun. We must start a bigger campaign—a statewide, a southern campaign."

One subscription of $5 came in from a telegram from south Georgia.

Mr. G. Candler was the next speaker. "I don't want to be well for me to encourage such ill feeling," he said, "but I am sure, smiling, the situation here is not as bad as it looks. It is not as bad as it looks. It is not as bad as it looks."

Mrs. Candler complimented the splendid support of the press.

"Once you let the newspapers know that it is for the benefit of Atlanta and you can look out for them to shake their heads before your face next day," said he.

He said that a minor hospital for women has not been the raising of $25,000. It has been less than $10,000, shaking his head and showing that he was a man to shake his head.

Mrs. T. R. Kendall, of Gainesville, field agent of the Women's Auxiliary, told Mrs. Candler, donated, at the very first meeting for the hospital several months ago, a family heirloom to the cause—a brooch bearing a miniature painting of the Madonna.

One of the contributions reported by Grace church committee was a donation from J. T. Duncan, of Douglas, Ga., of $10 worth of hospital beds, which he will purchase this week.

"We owe a debt of gratitude to the Atlanta Journal for the help it has given us," said Mrs. Candler. "The support it has made in our behalf has rung like a clarion call to the people."

Atlanta, a City of Beautiful Homes, Shown in These Pictures

Typical Scenes of Streets and Residences on the North Side, East Side and West End Section

Mark Twain used to blame Sir Walter Scott for what he called the chivalric idea in southern architecture. He was referring to the old-time southern "mansions" with too many towers and turrets and other such accessories.

Mark, however, would see an im-

the most moderate priced homes.

BRICK CONSTRUCTION.

Moreover there is more variety in architecture. Time was when a whole street was built after the pattern of one house. Now a half dozen styles, colors and materials may be represented in one block. Lumber is as high as it ever was, but more brick houses are being built.

Of late years the bungalow has almost usurped the cottage, and biographies of future great Atlantians will recite the great one's childhood in a humble bungalow, bought for $100 cash, the assumption of a loan and $29 a month (like rent).

Then there is the brick veneer house—one row of brick over the frame, combining solidity and less building expense.

Go out any Sunday from now on and see the people walking about. They are inspecting the latest crop of houses for sale, designed by architects and builders and offered through the aggressive real estate agent.

At the moderate price these homes are offered, and the easy method of making payments, the real paper is rapidly becoming a home owner, and he can have his choice in any section, at any price, and on any kind of payments.

ty years ago.

A moderately priced bungalow in a good, if not fashionable section, must now have a furnace, be equipped with electricity and gas, have hardwood floors, be screened, and, to meet the modern health fad, have a sleeping porch.

The man who lives in a $5,000 house today has more comfort and luxury than a man living in a $10,000 one twenty years ago, although the $10,000 house of twenty years ago would cost a great deal more today.

Conveniences that were ahead of the times then, or were classed strictly as luxuries, are now demanded in ment in the south today. Certainly he would in Atlanta, where the pleasing architectural effects are seen in homes.

The pictures on this page necessarily show only a limited impression of Atlanta homes, but they are typical of the new style in architecture.

They are taken at Ansley Park, Druid Hills, Peachtree road and beyond West End, and they represent the typical homes of those sections. It will be noticed that the effect is so far away as possible from Mark Twain's Scott idea of architecture, being simple and, in some instances, almost severe. The costlier the house, very often the simpler the design.

EXPENSE OF HOMES.

Some men remarked recently that people now spend as much on a heating plant as they used to on a whole house; and there is some truth under the exaggeration.

Houses have been built here costing over $50,000, to say nothing of the value of the grounds and the accessories that go with such a house. Some owners have built houses in the country that would in the old days have been considered palaces in town. Enough is spent on a servant's house and garage to build a respectable residence street.

MODERN CONVENIENCES.

The very expensive home is the exception, but the cheaper ones, to meet the modern demand, must have conveniences never dreamed of twenty recognized Carranza and I have never claimed that those governments accredit diplomatic representatives to me. But those same nations may very well under international law and diplomatic usage, have unofficial intercourse with me in my capacity of commander-in-chief of the constitutional army which dominates a large part of the nation. This unofficial manner may be avoided by the aforesaid countries through their representatives or through their consuls residing in the Mexican territory controlled by the forces under my command, and if there should be no foreign consuls in the territory controlled by the constitutional forces, as pointed out by Secretary Bryan in connection with the De-mingo mine case, then the government concerned may very well authorize other persons who may well be the consuls of the United States to present the representations in the name of those governments, the power being properly drawn up.

As I truly do not see what objection foreign nations can have to that method of communicating with me, all the representations I have received, or may receive hereafter dealing with non-American foreigners do and will serve the sole purpose of bringing to my notice, if not already reported by the Mexican authorities, the fact that this or that foreigner has suffered some injury and of my issuing appropriate orders that all individual guarantees be extended to foreigners, punishment when occasion arises, being inflicted on the responsible parties, who, in violation of the law and in disregard of their duty and my orders should ever so slightly molest foreigners, nor would there be any need of waiting for any representations for it is one of my purposes that justice under the law shall be respected to the utmost in my country.

BRYAN IN ALBERT.

Although Secretary Bryan declined to discuss the construction to be placed upon Carranza's reply, attention of officials was at once centered upon the fact that Carranza proposes to impose a condition that may make impossible the activities of the consuls unless the Carranza powers are willing to make a decided change in their policy.

It is considered very doubtful whether diplomatic representatives of the powers in Washington are disposed to address themselves directly to Carranza in any attempt to bring about a change in their policy, and there is little likelihood that they will formally confer "powers" upon American consuls to represent them before Carranza's authorities. They have adopted the usual course where countries have no diplomatic or consular representatives in a war-swept country in calling upon another government—in this case, the United States—to look after their interests and it is not usual in such cases to transfer power to consuls of the third body.

General Carranza's reply to Secretary Bryan, therefore, may have the effect of bringing about an important change of attitude on the part of foreign governments toward the constitutionalists, as the state department has already indicated that it cannot force Carranza to allow it to act for other nations.

The De-mingo mine, referred to by General Carranza in his note, is a large Spanish mining property in the state of Durango, owned by a number of Spaniards, but in which there is also a small American interest. The property was confiscated by Carranza's forces. No report of any loss of life there was made to the state department.

Two Friends of Madero Arrested by Carranza

(By Associated Press.)

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, March 14.—Senator Alberto Pina and Manuel Boullin, minister of Fomento, in the cabinet of the late President Madero, were arrested here late today charged with conspiracy against General Carranza, leader of the constitutionalists. Rumors that arrests of other prominent men would follow were current tonight.

Pina was arrested on his arrival by train from Altar, Sonora. He was met at the railroad station by two officers, was turned over to them, and was taken into custody before the arrival of Pina.

Constitutionalist officers maintained reticence over the arrests, but hinted they followed the alleged discovery of a widespread plot in Sonora and Sinaloa against the present commander-in-chief of the insurgents.

Town Is Captured And Sacked by Rebels

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, March 14.—Monclova station on the International railroad between Ciudad Porfirio Diaz and Monterrey, was taken today by rebels, who burned the railway shops and 200 cars and looted the town. Minister of War Huerta minimized the destruction wrought by the rebels and insisted the federalists had requested them.

The minister said he assumed the rebels intended to move from Monclova toward Monterrey.

From the state of Guerrero various small successes were reported today. The rebels continue threatening Tampico, but have not attacked the city.

The gambut Tampico which recently joined the rebels, declared Minister of War Huerta to have gone down in the harbor of Toluca, Mexico.

Tecate is near the border on the American side. A woman who saw the attack reported to the commander at Fort Brown that troops were needed and that the populace was terrorized.

CONGRESS OF MOTHERS

HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Extension of Membership to Every Mother in Georgia Is Aim of Organization

Extension of the Georgia Mothers Congress to every mother in the state was the keynote of the annual meeting of the congress held yesterday in the Piedmont hotel.

In her annual report the retiring president, Mrs. James R. Little, of Atlanta, emphasized this idea above all others. She said only through organization can the mothers reach their highest degree of efficiency in the raising of children and only through organized effort can they obtain the enactment of the legislative program which the congress has outlined.

number of Atlanta women and a representative attendance of mothers from over the state. The reports were encouraging. The spirit of the meeting was enthusiastic. Officers were elected for the regular term of two years as follows:

President—Mrs. J. Howard Payne, of Elberton.

Vice Presidents—Mrs. George Haught of Atlanta; Mrs. S. D. Owens, of A

gusta; Mrs. James T. Wright, of Macon;
Mrs. J. Lindsay Johnson, of Rome; Mrs.
George C. Baldwin, of Savannah; Mrs.
Byrd Davis, of Columbus.
Corresponding Secretary—Miss Still
well, of Eiberton.
Recording Secretary—Miss Lott
Barnes, of Columbus.
Auditor—Mrs. Roger Dewar, of At lanta.
Treasurer—Mrs. S. E. Hamlett, of Atlanta.
There are twelve vice presidents in the organization, with the district president of the Georgia congress. The remaining ones, in addition to those above mentioned, are to be elected by the executive board Monday morning.

MRS. LITTLE'S address in the morning session was given in the morning with a meeting of the executive board. Then came Mrs. Little's annual report in which she reviewed the work of the past two years and made recommendations for the future. The executive board then organized to be continued that the publicity work be enlarged, and that the twelve district presidents work for increasing the membership. She touched particularly on the legislative program of the congress, and the various bills mentioned in the following bill which have been introduced by the Permissive kindergarten bill; general health bill, introduced by Representative Kilis, of Tift, which bill provides among other things for medical inspection in rural schools; more complete statistical records; and the bill to establish a school for defective children.

Mrs. Little recommended that the work in co-operation with the state board of health and the state board of education be continued, and recommends that the local clubs work in harmony and co-operation with their local school authorities. She recommended that so hygiene be studied by mothers and fathers and taught by them in the home, but did not recommend the teaching of this subject in the schools. She recommended that the child welfare exhibi-

offered to the Georgia Congress by the National Child Welfare association taken, the cost being $500 for the city where it is permanently located and $100 each for five other cities which may have it for one week each. Since the organization of child recommended the organization of clubs in connection with the church and the Sunday school, for the training of children before they reach school age.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES.

Mrs Little's report was followed by the report of Mrs. W. H. Wiggs,

Atlanta on the work of the extension department, and then came an open discussion by the club presidents, after which Miss Kahtrein Wootten, librarian of Carnegie library in Atlanta made an address on library and library extension work. She said any commu-

Dr. Katherine Collins of Atlanta, chairman of the committee on hygiene and sanitation, gave an interesting report of this work covering two years.

She told how the physicians in Atlanta have co-operated in the work, and urged the local clubs throughout the state to enlist the co-operation of the physicians.

One of the most interesting of the club reports was by Mrs. J. Howard Payne, president of the Elberton club.

She told of the introduction of penand how they have succeeded both of the people. She said the lunch

Edwin P. Ansley Announces First Development of the Year

A Big Boulevard Extending Through the S. C. Stovall Property, Past the Capital City Country Club and Through the Hart Estate, Lying Just North of the Brookhaven Estates and the Country Club; Thence into DeKalb County and Through One Land Lot to Oglethorpe University Grounds and Silver Lake Properties; Thence on a Direct Route to Chamblee and Extending North by Way of Peachtree Road.

THESE PROPERTIES WILL MAKE ONLY A FEW TRACTS, AS IT IS TO BE CUT INTO LOTS OF TWO TO FIVE ACRES EACH. EACH TRACT WILL BE DEVELOPED UPON ITS OWN MERITS AND A CAREFULLY SELECTED BUILDING SITE WILL BE PROVIDED IN EACH INSTANCE.

The Route Selected Follows a Plateau Higher Than Any Part of Peachtree Road, overlooking the Entire Country. With the Beautiful Club Property and Lake in the Foreground, It Has the Effect of a Mountain Plateau, With a Great Formal Garden Extending in All Directions. Some of the Finest Landscape Engineers of This and Other Sections Have Inspected This Property, and Express Wonder That This Plan Has Not Been Discovered Sooner.

Below Are the Endorsements of Some of the Officials of the Capital City Country Club, and Also a Plat Showing the Proposed Boulevard.

THE AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK OF ATLANTA
CAPITAL AND RESERVE $1,000,000

ATLANTA, GA., March 14, 1914

Edwin P. Ansley,
Atlanta, Ga.

I have seen the preliminary plans for connecting from Peachtree Road the Capital City Country Club property and the Oglethorpe University and Silver Lake properties by the development of land lots 10, 11 and 12. This will make these valuable properties closely together and, when carried out, will be of much benefit to all the properties involved and one of the most important improvements made to the southern end of Fulton and western part of DeKalb County for many years.

I would thank the efforts of this proposition would fully within the County Commissioners of Fulton and DeKalb in co-operating liberally with you and your associates in securing this property, which is now to be developed in the valuable portions from this section and its rapid development.

As you know, I have no personal interest whatever in any of this property, except as interest, as evidenced, in the future value of the Capital City Country Club. Hence, your activity and success in developing property in this and other sections of the country, I believe to be in your judgment, and believe that if your present plans are carried out, your appreciation in the success of this enterprise will be fully realized, and I am sure that this is destined to be developed in this beautiful section of Fulton and DeKalb County, west of Peachtree Road.

Yours truly,
Wm. P. Halladay

CLEVELAND, OHIO

ATLANTA, GA.
March 15, 1914.

Edwin P. Ansley,
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir:

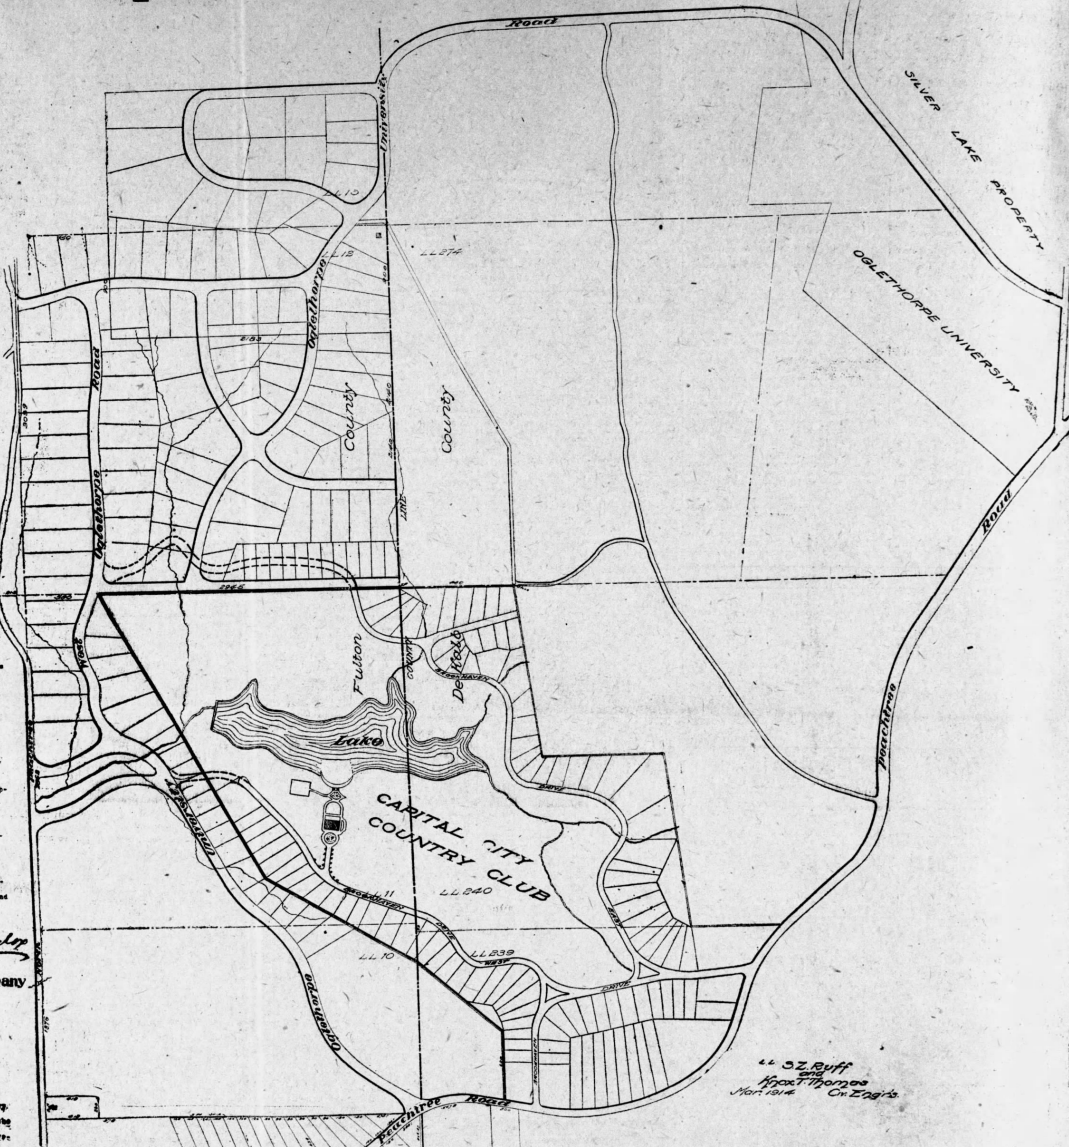

The plan you have outlined for connecting the property adjoining the Capital City Country Club with that adjoining the site set aside for Oglethorpe University with a splendid driveway, in which you make provision for a private right-of-way for the car line, is one of the broadest developments ever taken around Atlanta.

I did not know until I saw your plan that only one land lot separates the properties of Brookhaven Estates from that of the Silver Lake Estates, nor that a drive could be built on the north side of the Capital City Country Club property to connect with the University site, that would be 1,000 feet longer than the Peachtree Road.

The fact that you are willing to change your plan, so that your proposed driveway around the Club property will form an attractive boulevard system around the Club Links, and are willing to locate your drive on the north of the Links, fifty or more feet from the Club property, and allow the Club the use of this space that is very necessary to make this part of the Links as wide as they should be, is another evidence of your consideration in dealing with your neighbors. It occurs to me that your neighbors and the public have profited more than you have, in all of your developments but it is that broadness of vision that has made your developments successful.

I believe the Club and the University will co-operate in co-operation with you to the fullest extent in carrying out your development plan, and I hope that all adjoining property owners will do the same.

Wishing you success in all your plans, I am
Very truly,
John Miller
Chairman, Capital City Country Club.

In order to meet the demand of the public for suburban home sites, ranging in size from one to five acres, I have formed a syndicate, and had plans prepared, as shown by the above plat of S. Z. Ruff and Knox T. Thomas, engineers, for a subdivision of this kind, lying between the Capital City Country Club property and the site of Oglethorpe University and the Silver Lake Estates, and have planned to connect these two properties by a boulevard sixty-six feet wide, which is shown on this plat as Oglethorpe University Road. It is planned that this road shall be built as a double roadway with a private right-of-way twenty feet wide between the roadway to be used for any extension of the car line, either to the Club or the University. I believe that it is desirable for every interurban car line to have a private right of way, and therefore, I have provided such right-of-way in the driveway marked "Oglethorpe University Road" which will make a splendid route to the University and the Silver Lake Estates, which will be practically no longer than to use Peachtree road. I believe it will be more desirable to reach these properties with a car line over this route, and leave Peachtree Road as an automobile route only.

It is proposed for the property owners to bring this driveway to a proper grade, at their own expense, and I think DeKalb and Fulton Counties should co-operate in paving it in view of the wonderful advance in taxable values that will accrue in this section, by reason of the development of this property, which is now known as back property or farm lands.

To show the effect of this class of development, I will state that the City and County derived a revenue of $50,000.00 in taxes from the Ansley Park development alone, in 1913, whereas, nine years ago, this property was a tangled mass of underbrush, and paid taxes of less than $1,000.00 to Fulton County at that time.

I am advised that it is very desirable to widen the Golf Links on the North side of the Lake, in order to give more width to the greens, and I have therefore, planned to move the proposed roadway, extending along the Northern side of the Club's property, some distance back, approximately as shown by the dotted lines on the above plat, so as to allow the Links to be extended into our property.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

THE meeting of the Southern Woman's Golf association will be held during the early summer in Knoxville, Tenn., and the handsome club house will be the scene of a bright gathering of expert women golfers. The association which met in Atlanta two years ago had planned to hold the meeting of 1914 in Chattanooga, Tenn., but the recent destruction of the country club by fire caused a change in plans. Many social features mark the annual meet, and this year the series of entertainments planned by Knoxville hostesses for the entertainment of their guests will make the week a very brilliant one. One of the very large affairs will be the closing ball to be given at the country club, the feature of the evening to be the awarding of handsome trophies to the winners. A number of the best golf players from Atlanta are planning to attend the meet, which will assemble noted players from all over the southern states. The beautiful weather of the past few days is causing a renewed interest in golf and the links at Brookhaven and the East Lake Country club have been thronged with enthusiastic club members. Among those who may be seen on bright afternoons are Mrs. Albert Thornton, Mrs. Gordon Kiser, Mrs. William Tilt, Mrs. John Kiser, Mrs. Charles Bell, Mrs. Roy Collier, Mrs. Palmer Calhoun, Mrs. Thomas R. Paine, Mrs. John Kiser and Mrs. Andrew Calhoun, all of whom are keenly interested in golf.

Historical Pageant to Be Brilliant Event at Auditorium

Keen interest and much pleasant discussion is centering about plans for the huge historical pageant which will be given early in June by the Joseph Habersham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The pageant, which is an annual event of the early summer, will be arranged this year on a larger scale than has ever been attempted by the chapter. The parade which will be held at the auditorium will portray the history of Georgia in its most interesting phases. A series of tableaux given several years ago at the home of Mrs. William Lawson Peck will be used as a basis for the display which will be divided into three sections. The first will deal with English scenes connected with the coming of Oglethorpe. The second will represent colonial Georgia and the third will bring into public view Georgia scenes at the time of the revolution. The auditorium will be transformed into a blaze of color for the occasion, and the walls will be hung with tapestry. Much thought is being devoted to the costumes which will be elaborate and beautiful and are being designed to faithfully delineate the splendor of the three periods represented. The members of the chapter and all who will take part will appear in exact reproduction of the costumes worn by famous ancestors and it is thought the gown chosen by Mrs. John Marshall Slaton will be a facsimile of the one worn by the wife of Governor James Oglethorpe. The pageant, which has been in the annals of the history of Georgia, the colonial period will be shown in detail and the mile en scene will be instructive as well as one of the most interesting spectacles ever given in the city.

A Domestic Vacuum Cleaner Will Make Spring House Cleaning Easy And Sweeping at All Times Less a Burden Than Ever Before

The Domestic Vacuum Cleaner is the greatest cleaning device ever perfected. It requires no electricity, no hand-pumping; you simply run it over the floor like a carpet sweeper. Turning the wheels creates a vacuum which draws air through the nozzle at the rate of more than 25,000 cubic inches per minute. With this air comes all the dust, dirt, germs, moths, etc., from carpets and rugs and even the dust from the floor beneath the rugs or carpets.

All dust or dirt is deposited in a cloth bag inside the sweeper, which may be turned out and emptied in the fire or otherwise destroyed.

Thus you actually get rid of the dust in your home, instead of stirring it up to breathe, and to settle again.

There are several different models, at different prices.

Many of them in use now at the Hotel Ansley and other hotels, besides private homes in Atlanta.

Let us show them to you Monday or any day this week.

The home garden is worthy of being taken seriously, in city as well as country.

Special Service for Ladies

Many ladies want advice and help on garden and flower subjects.

Mrs. Sherrill will be in our city retail store daily for the next few months for the benefit of our lady customers. Mrs. Sherrill has had large garden experience in flowers and vegetables in the Atlanta section. She can advise you to advantage; will gladly answer questions. If in doubt, ask Mrs. Sherrill.

OUR ASTROLOGER

"The stars incline, but do not compel."
HOMEROSOPH YON
MONDAY, MARCH 16, 1914.

The Sun and Neptune are in places held to be fortunate for human affairs. Astrologers find this a day in which to push business interests, seek employment and solicit the co-operation of persons of influence. More, however, is in an aspect that is threatening, and it is well not to provoke a quarrel.

The rule of the stars is favorable for persons in authority. It is foretold that President Wilson will receive great honors this month in the form of public recognition of his ability as a statesman. The reading is that kings and emperors will praise him. By this same sign it is read that the mayor of New York will gain extraordinary influence in national affairs. His stars forebode unusual experience in which few arise.

Discussion of army affairs will claim attention again. Promotions and discharges will cause discussion. There is much to be commended for an officer of high rank. Prelates and clergymen should benefit by astrol conditions, which the stars declare stimulate the activities of the churches. When the Sun exercises kindly away

Atlanta Girl Wins Success in New York

Atlanta friends of Miss Mamie Adel Hays, the gifted young singer who is spending the winter in New York, will be interested to learn of her great success in musical circles of the metropolis. At a recent meeting of the players at the Hotel Marlborough, at which the stars of "The New Henrietta," William H. Crane, Amelia Sturham and Douglas Fairbanks were guests of honor and at which Ben Grey and Charles Rann Kennedy were among the list of speakers, Miss Hays was the center and received enthusiastic commendations from the guests and members present. She was also the soloist in a concert with the Paterson Symphony orchestra in Paterson, N. J., singing an entire solo accompaniment such brilliant and exacting selections as "Charmant Valse" from the opera "Le Paradis de l'Esprit," by Felix David. This number displayed the remarkable flexibility and carrying power of her voice to exceptional advantage. The large orchestra, serving only to enhance the vocal qualities even in the extreme passages, which she sang with the ease of one of rare artistic excellence. Her other numbers on this occasion were songs by Brahms, Gilbert and Sullivan, which showed the unusual versatility of Miss Hays' art.

There is believed to be good luck for goldsmiths, miners of money and all who deal in the precious metals. Neptune is in an aspect said to be particularly advantageous for the study of philosophy and occult subjects. Poets, seers and all who depend on inspirational ideals should profit by this configuration. Mars in evilly disposed, and while the Sun inclines toward genial and kindly impulses, the planet associated with warfare inclinations may offer the friendly mood, provoking misunderstanding and dissensions. Persons born between March 21 and April 20 are likely to be especially sensitive to Mars in every variation of aspect. Men and women whose birthdate it is are warned against new ventures of every sort. They have a lucky augury if they avoid quarrels and lawsuits. These who are wage-earners probably will gain in income. Children born on this day have a happy omen. They should live in their life work and prosper in love. Their ideal center is the Sun in Pisces and their principal ruling planets are Neptune and Jupiter. Woman's Truest Charm is her Complexion

The softness and delicacy, the smoothness and brilliancy of a woman's face, are her greatest assets. If the skin is treated properly it will be found, usually, to retain its natural beauty, free from all irritating wrinkles, blotches, enlarged pores, pimples, blemishes and potholes under the eyes or chin. All these signs of complexion are, or ought to be, easily removed.

Nemo KOPSERVICE CORSETS

THE new NEMO KOPSERVICE Corsets introduce a radically new idea in corset-construction—the most important corset-invention of the century.

KOPSERVICE SYSTEM
DETAILS OF CONSTRUCTION
A.—Detachable skirt on wires.
B.—Turned back to show supporting features (D).
C.—Showing how skirt conforms to natural figure.
D.—Nemo "bridge."

Now, for the first time, every woman who desires the so-called "corsetless" or "nature" figure may have it, without discomfort, physical injury, or the danger of losing her shape permanently.

NEMO KOPSERVICE Corsets combine the unequalled comfort of the old short corset with the long lines and easy fit of the present mode, while retaining all the hygienic supporting features that have made the NEMO famous.

THIS IS NEW! You've never seen ANYTHING LIKE IT—in a NEMO or in any other Corset

Four models—two for full figures and two for the slender and medium. All have low bust—some almost "topless"—and extra-long skirt with the comforting Lastcurve Back. All at one price.

The diagram shows the double-front construction. Other new features are the deep front gorges of the durable elastic Lastkops Cloth (Nos. 552 and 562), and the delightful semi-elastic "topless" effect (No. 561).

Women have gladly welcomed the NEMO KOPSERVICE Corsets because they ALONE enable Fashion's devotees to follow the dictates of that fickle goddess without suffering the usual penalty.

All Nemo Corsets are made under the supervision of The Nemo Hygienic-Fashion Institute, and are guaranteed to be hygienically safe. They PRESERVE YOUR FIGURE and GUARD YOUR HEALTH. Sold everywhere. Ask your dealer.

The Difference Between COMFORT and DISCOMFORT

Just as a hair may divide the false from the true, so may a spring prove the difference between comfort and discomfort. And comfort is a very desirable condition.

It is restlessness at night and loss of sleep which produce nervousness; which undermine health. In too many instances the real cause is not thought of. Are you laboring under discomfort which robs you of a night's good rest? Perhaps your bed is not equipped with the proper spring. Perhaps the spring is too weak in some places and too rigid in others and has an uneven surface.

Mine isn't "The 400" Springbed Mine is is guaranteed the best made. It is manufactured of highly tempered Premier wire which gently conforms to the body lines. Each of the 88 oil tempered coils is carefully tested. The frame work and connecting wires are stiff and rigid to hold the spring in shape. The whole is heavily coated with durable black enamel which makes the spring noiseless and rustless and germ proof. The surface is smooth and even with no rough ends to tear mattress tick. Insure your comfort.

Sold under 5-year guarantee. If your dealer can't supply you write us.

Baseball Rows Don't Worry Lynch Now

Former President of the National League Now Engaged as Theater Manager—Refuses to Discuss Affairs of the Old Circuit When Asked Opinion

NEW YORK, March 14.—Up in New Britain, Conn., far removed from the turmoil and strife of baseball there's a man with a dark mustache, with soft brown eyes and hair that is graying at the ends, who smiles all the while and who smiles when one in a half and contented and at peace with all the world.

The man who smiles is Tom Lynch, once president of the National League, now proprietor of a prosperous theater in the little Connecticut town.

Tom, as many will recall, was booted out of the National League last December after serving it for four years, because the puritanical board of directors wanted an able man to ably handle the affairs of the league.

It hurt Tom's pride a bit when he was shored out of the league, but he went on with nothing to warm him but the feeling of indignation toward his former bosses but Tom hasn't minded the cold much later.

Quite glad now that he was shored, and thereby saved the hours of agony that Governor John K. Tener, his successor, has endured during the past two weeks or so.

NO OPINION TO EXPRESS.

"What do you think of the present state of affairs in the National League?" Lynch was asked.

"I have no opinion to express," was the reply. "I feel that I have no right to express my sentiments concerning what has happened since I was supplanted by Governor Tener."

"The ousting of Murphy was a good thing for the league and for baseball in general, wasn't it?"

"You'll have to excuse me," returned Lynch.

"I have no statement to make. My attitude toward the National League was expressed to the magnates on the day that I was let go and Governor Tener elected in my place. At the time I told the magnates that I hoped they would conduct themselves with as much dignity as they rightly should."

"I also told them that I hoped they would be a help, not a hindrance, to him."

In closing, I said that I wished the National League every success, and then and I still mean it. I was in the service of the National League for many years. I owe much to the National League."

In place of his president and put some ideas in my mind. I hope that I should feel that I had helped them because they executed that job."

"I was in baseball nearly all my life and baseball became part of my life. To be out of it is a bit hard, but I am happier now than I was for the last few years. I have no trouble or worries. I am my own boss. I do not have to take dictation from anyone. I do have to bear the brunt of criticism."

WISE MOVE, MAGNATES THINK.

The National League has come to the conclusion that the $25,000 annual salary they agreed to pay Governor Tener has been a wise investment.

Tener is signed up for four years, but will not draw any salary for 1914, as he will be on the payroll of the state of Pennsylvania, until the end of the year.

Serving the first year without pay and setting $25,000 for each of the three following years.

Tener's yearly salary for four years will average only $18,750.

The little stunt of placing the aside under Mister Murphy and then moving Mister Murphy into the discard is well worth the total money.

Tener's salary was $25,000 and when William Baker, president of the Philadelphia Phillies, was asked to become successor some of the magnates were against the idea because they thought that $25,000 was too much money.

In the way of making money, Tener would prove to be a second Moses and would lead the league out of chaos into the promised land.

No one will regret having Tener the $25,000 salary Baker argues. And now those who once opposed Baker's candidacy of Tener fully agree with him in what he said.

COMING SEASON WILL SEE
BRILLIANT TENNIS PLAY

BY W. A. COLEMAN.

NEW YORK, March 14.—It looks now as if nothing human could prevent the world's ten best tennis players and half a dozen or more of the next rank from being seen in or near New York next summer.

The draw for the Davis cup tennis tournament, which will be held, of course, a lot may happen between now and August, but it is a good bet that we shall see the teams of Germany, Australia, Canada and the British Isles fighting it out over here for the right to meet the United States in the challenge round.

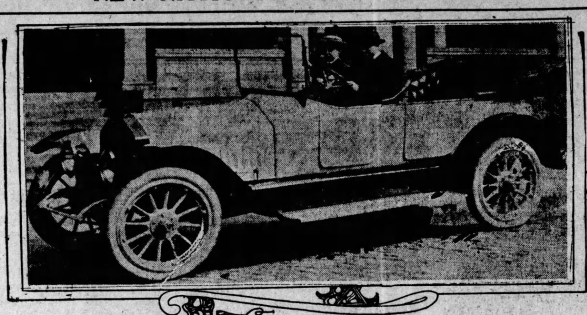

In the top half of the draw Germany has a bye, while Canada and Australia will meet in the first round. In the lower half the British Isles and Belgium will meet, while France has a bye.

The strength of the various nations is pretty well known. It is clear, therefore, that, barring accidents or sickness, Australia should have no difficulty in putting Canada out of the way. This tie, at Canada's request, will probably be held in this country, and, as most of the world's great players will want to come over this year for the United States championships at Newport, it seems fairly certain that Germany will readily consent to send her team over to face Australia in the second round.

Australia, of course, will be the favorite in this encounter. In the lower half of the bracket the British Isles should have an easy job with Belgium. This tie, to all likelihood, will be decided on the other side, as will England's easy route with France in the second round.

With Australia already over here and with England's easy route with France in the second round, it is believed that the great finale of these matches will be played at Newport.

Federals Plan Minor Leagues

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, March 14.—Baseball players who deserted organized ball to join the Federals will be taken care of, even if they fail to win battle with the Federal teams. This was announced today by President Gilmore, who returned from a visit at the training camp of the Chicago Federals at Shreveport, La. He confirmed the report that two minor league leagues would be formed next year to provide Federal "farms."

"What will become of the players not strong enough to get regular jobs on your team?" he was asked.

"Every man who quit organized ball, from major or minor league, will be taken care of," said Gilmore. "Of course there are a lot of youngsters who never played in organized ball whose training experience with us will not hurt them. These will be free to get places anywhere."

"Next year we will have at least two minor league leagues working in conjunction with us. If we are in organized ball, then they will be; if not, they will be 'outlaws,' as we are called now."

Sporty Course For Golfers in Nat'l Tourney

CHICAGO, March 14.—The golfers who will enter the tournament for the American championship over the links of the Midwestern Country club near this city, will be confronted with a stiff course. It will be the first opportunity Chicago has ever had for seeing such an aggregation of golfers in action, and the club intends that the links will not be lacking in any respect. Traps have been dug wholesale, and in many instances formidable bunkers have been installed. Under the new conditions, the first, second and third holes have been made considerably harder. The eighth hole has been made longer, and the creek at the left is used for a natural hazard. Forbidding bunkers are on the right, so that the player need not expect to get away.

The creek again at the eighth, tenth and presents difficulty for the man who pulls. In fact, this hole has been stiffened so much that it is likely to play havoc with more than one medal score. Long grass has been sown in front of most of the tees, so that the man who tops his drive need expect little distance.

Pres. Thompson Announces Com. For Olympiad

Men Who Will Represent the United States at Olympic Congress in Paris Chosen, List Includes Jas. E. Sullivan, Alfred J. Lill, Bartow Sweets and Others

NEW YORK, March 14.—The following United States Olympic committee delegates to the Olympic congress to be held in Paris in June, have been appointed by Colonel R. M. Thompson, president of the American committee: James E. Sullivan, New York; Alfred J. Lill, Jr., Boston; Bartow Sweets, New York; Everett C. Brown, Chicago; Joseph B. Macaulay, Boston; Dr. Orasmus M. Hammond, New York (fencing); Dr. C. Randolph Manning, New York (acrobatics); Lieutenant Commander Harris Lansing, Princeton (shooting); Colonel Robert M. Thompson, Washington, and two alternates, to be appointed later.

The congress of 1914 has been convened by the international Olympic committee in response to the feeling expressed in most countries that future Olympic games should be governed by a uniform code of regulations and a permanent program. Among the questions to be submitted to the congress, the decision of which will be final, are the following:

Should women be permitted to take part in the Olympic games? minimum age of competitors; questions of nationality and naturalization; should a competitor who has represented a nation in another nation in a later Olympiad? number of entries in each event; manner of counting points; table of results. It being established that in Olympiad should be included the following sports: Athletics, gymnastics, combative sports, water sports, equestrian sports, pentathlons—what are the indispensable items in each sport program?

Vandy's Track Candidates Are Getting Busy

Coach Anderson Is Working Cinder Path Artists Daily. Prospects for Winning Team Are Bright-Star Men From Last Year's Team Are Back

(Special Dispatch to The Journal) NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 14.—Coach W. J. Anderson, of the Vanderbilt track team, is getting a squad of about thirty through daily workouts. Five members of last year's team are back and there is some very promising new material. Only light practice in the form of jogging has been ordered for the first couple of weeks, to work out the stiff muscles. The continued cold weather has retarded practice, but as soon as this breaks, the candidates will be given more strenuous work.

Captain W. H. Gill, who broke the 5.1 A. mile record in 4:24 last year, will not run this year owing to a pressure sore and parental objection. This is a blow to the team, as Gill was counted a sure winner again in his event. To fill the vacancy, M. C. Chester was elected to succeed him. Chester is a hurdler, high and broad jumper, and has proven the best point man for Vanderbilt for the last two years. He is also a football man, playing a good game at last season.

The other members returned from last year are G. H. Armstrong, captain of the relay team; Oscar Nelson, half-mile, and R. L. Garner, mile. With the two men who ran on the relay team, which tied the record, back and with a number of other good quarter men working, prospects seem good for Vanderbilt to carry off this year again. The S. I. A. A. relay committee changed the value of this event at the meeting last fall. A cup will be given the winner instead of counting it in the points of the meet. Vanderbilt has been the winner of the relay in every S. I. A. A. meet.

Numbered among the new candidates are many prep school stars and several men who have done good work in other colleges. Notable among the last is Page, the Auburn sprinter who carried off all dash honors two years ago. Curry, the fast youngster, who played part of the time last fall at quarter, is expected to deliver the speed on the sprints. Another freshman from the Nashville High school, who, in a prep meet last year, showed remarkable speed, is Bob Turner. He has also done excellent work in the broad jump. Alfred Brannan, of the University of Tennessee, and Kennedy are pole vaulters who are expected to handle this event in good style. Kavanagh won the 100-yard dash at the Kentucky State prep meet last spring and is in good condition at the moment. Freshman, 150-pounder, who was one of the best condition at the moment, is the most promising weight candidate.

Vanderbilt has a meet with the University of Tennessee and Maryville college at Knoxville on May 1. Negotiations are under way for another at Nashville with Kentucky on April 15. The place for the S. I. A. A. has not been decided. It was held in either Atlanta or Birmingham. T. G. dates are May 15 and 16.

Buffalo Federals Arrive at Camp

LANCASTER, Pa., March 14.—The Buffalo Federal league squad of baseball players arrived here from Lancaster, Pa., last night and will tomorrow begin two weeks' training on the local grounds. Manager Schatz did not accompany them, but will arrive Monday. There are twenty-six men in the squad.

MANAGER O'DAY DISCUSSES PENNANT HOPES OF CUBS

BY HENRY O'DAY.
Manager of the Chicago Cubs.
TAMPA, Fla., March 14.—Making predictions about the season has been made never appealed to me, and I do not think it is good form for a manager to make them. I am not going to do it now. If I knew, it would more than please me to tell the fans that the Cubs will surely win the pennant in 1934. But I do not know and, therefore, would be prevaricating if I said I did. How can I say anything or even promise, when I do not know what my lineup is to be? Without trying to dodge the question of what I think of the club's prospects I can honestly say, I have no idea what the line-up of the club team is to be. There might be a change or two in the outfield, and it is certain there will be one or two in the infield, but what they are to be cannot be told now.

Some of the men may go back to the minor leagues, or may figure in a trade with one of the clubs in the league. That is something to be decided until Mr. Murphy's place has been filled. These conditions hardly can be used as all I can do is to go ahead and get the players and let them work out their judgment as to their ability.

If I arrange the line-up without any interference and the team does not hold its own in the race the fault will be all my own and I will be willing to stand for it.

I must say I am satisfied with what has been accomplished since we arrived here, although the weather has not been as ideal as it was last spring. Playing the league games has hindered the progress of the work, but if the conditions are favorable you will find the men will be in perfect shape on the day we depart on our homeward journey. The way the players have come into the training more than surprised me, and it certainly has pleased me. When I heard some of the stories about the trouble down here last spring I expected to have a bit of the same, but I found the men very eager to work, and have not had to tell one of them twice to do a thing. It is a pleasure to have a gang like that to manage.

The acquisition of Second Baseman Sweeney is going to help us out on the infield problem considerably. I will surely use him at first base. He can talk about Jake Daubert and Hal Chase, but I think this young fellow has better this year than last, and I have a prediction that he will be better than .300. Since we have gotten Sweeney, I expect to keep hitting him in the outfield on third, and work the outfield at second. This leaves a hole between Pheasant, Brooks and Sweeney for short. I don't think I need worry about this club being weak in those departments.

If my outfielders and pitchers deliver as well as I expect of the infielders, I do not look for any difficulty in remaining in the race and giving the other contenders for the pennant an interesting fight. I expected Tommy to be a catcher, but I think he is one of the smartest men in the game and one who knows how to get along with the umpires. He will not be far from any too tall, as I know from experience. Leach knows when and when not to question a decision, and he has the knowledge of how to lead a club. He will be in center field, as he was a wonder there last season. I expect to have him in center field, as good as a sure thing. He is an important man out there to aid the other players when chasing line drives. I have some promising material for the first two places, but I will not be as having the earmarks of making a change to play whether he is Johnson also looks promising. I cannot say anything about Good or Schutte. It may be one of them for right field and it will be hard to pick as they are showing up so well in batting and fielding. I will have to give the outfield positions to the men who, generally, get the openings in the infield.

There is nothing to worry about as far as the pitchers and catchers are concerned. Breman is taking off a lot of weight and will be used considerably. Archer, of course, will be the first cover and is sure to do as well as ever. Young Hargrove is a knatter and will have to retain him.

The pitchers will take care of themselves as I think I have some good ones. Vaughn, Pierce, Sumbrine, Lavelle, Zabel. They ought to carry me through and keep the club in the race. I am satisfied and when the season opens we will be there to give them all a battle right through to the finish. If we lose it will not be our fault.

MANAGER O'DAY, Manager of Cubs.

Club Yell for Detroit Tigers

DETROIT, Mich., March 14.—Manager Hugh Jennings is thinking of pulling an innovation for the Tigers this season in the form of an official club yell. Huhls, as everybody knows, is one of the real college chaps and no one is more devoted to the traditions of alma mater. He says that he isn't crazy about college ball players as a class, but otherwise he is strong for the academic halls.

The discovery of a former college yell master in the person of Wallace "Toots" Schultz, a rookie, is what set him thinking about an official outcry. "Toots" in his care-free university days was one of the cheer leaders at Pennsylvania and yells to some when called to calling for "mize mah" with loud voice and encouraging the vocalists with yells of the most approved style.

So well in batting and fielding. I will have to give the outfield positions to the men who, generally, get the openings in the infield.

There is nothing to worry about as far as the pitchers and catchers are concerned. Breman is taking off a lot of weight and will be used considerably. Archer, of course, will be the first cover and is sure to do as well as ever. Young Hargrove is a knatter and will have to retain him.

Britons May Pull Surprise in Polo

LONDON, March 14.—Captain C. L. Preston, late of the Middlesex infantry, who has just returned from America, where he heard much talk of the American polo preparations for the coming match, declares that the enthusiasm of America will be surprised when they next see the British polo team.

Captain Preston, who was aide de camp to General Maun in India, has played polo with all the officers who have been picked by Lord Amby St. Ledger, or rather Lord Wimborne, as he now is, to assemble in Madrid to prepare for the matches at Meadow Brook in June.

Captain Preston is convinced that the style of polo that the English team will display this year will be a revelation to those who think that, however skillful and hard-hitting players, the British may be temperamentally incapable of playing the hustling American game.

"The eight men who are in Madrid," said Captain Preston, "are all hard-hitting and hard-hitting players. They know the hurricane tactics that they will be going to use to face over there and are going to spend all their time perfecting themselves in the rushing, slashing, go-go style of play. Already we have had some fast practice in Spain. King Alfonso is very keen about polo and is doing all he can to help England. The king himself has played in one practice game already. In their return to the United States, the British will play with a powerful side that Mr. Buckmaster is organizing, and at these tests, Lord Wimborne will finally decide upon his four best players."

Captain Preston had little information to convey about the American players. Captain Preston says all the best points of the British empire have been put at the disposal of Burlington, that seventy-two have already been accepted. Of this string the thirty-eight will be sent to the United States.

Rentz in Greenwood Raceabout

W. C. Rentz, of Georgia Auto Repair company, in Stevens-Duryell raceabout, which was out from his firm from a seven-passenger touring car. The car is owned by Mr. George R. Greenwood and has just finished its maiden trip to South Carolina and return. Mr. Rentz, who was at the wheel on this trip, says the car behaved beautifully and on the return trip made a remarkable run from Anderson to Atlanta without stopping the engine. Mr. Greenwood expects to make a run to New York this spring over the national highway in this car.

INTERESTING NOTES FROM THE COLLEGE SPORT WORLD

Dr. Raycroft states that at Princeton "complete opposition" describes the attitude of the Princeton athletic authorities to both summer baseball and the tendency of college men to take up professional baseball after graduation. It is felt that, in spite of the fact that professional baseball is a perfectly legitimate and honorable vocation, men with college training, even though they are good baseball players, should be encouraged to engage in a more useful occupation in life. If any change is made in these rules, it will be in the direction of a more rigid enforcement. As the undergraduate comes to have a clearer understanding of the various factors involved in the summer baseball, that seventy-two have already been accepted. Of this string the thirty-eight will be sent to the United States.

Dr. Pauper, of Wesleyan university, wrote: "Our college is opposed to college men taking part in summer baseball." The reasons for Wesleyan's position are: "We are opposed to summer baseball on moral grounds. Students who engage in summer baseball usually have little else to do and they are thus subjected to temptations which many cannot resist. I could give you definite illustrations of the fact not only of Wesleyan, but of men from other colleges."

Dr. Anderson in outlining the situation at Yale stated: "The college has taken no definite stand on the question of summer baseball. The athletic association, however, is governed by the rules of the S. I. A. A. which is against professionalism. They make consistent efforts to maintain purity in sports. I encourage clipping which will give you some idea of the attitude of President Hadley and Captain Blossom. They show that President Hadley is unconditionally opposed and Captain Blossom is in favor of summer baseball."

CHARLOTTESVILLE, March 14.—Games with the leading universities of the east will feature the baseball season of the University of Virginia during the approaching season. to maintain purity in sports. I encourage clipping which will give you some idea of the attitude of President Hadley and Captain Blossom. They show that President Hadley is unconditionally opposed and Captain Blossom is in favor of summer baseball."

The first track and field meet of the new year comes from the Pacific coast, where Trainer Walter Christie, of the University of California, predicts that the Stanford university team will defeat the Berkeley athletics by a score of about 61 to 56. Stanford is favored to win the majority of its points at track events. R. 4

Hupmobile

The car of The American Family

Why?

Motor cars, like men, generally "get what is coming to them."

If the Hupmobile were not, in fact, "the car of the American family," ten million gallons of printer's ink could not make it so.

If it were not, indeed, "the best car of its class in the world," ten million repetitions of the phrase could not achieve that reputation.

Sooner or later, the American people will put each and every motor car where it belongs.

They have different opinions about different cars, but only one opinion—everywhere—about the Hupmobile.

Why? Well, let's go back to the beginning. We said, then, that we would build a car which would compare with the costliest cars, as a small diamond compares with a large one.

That meant more money, and more care, in the chassis—a car of higher caliber at a popular price.

We began with a roadster that was a revelation.

And roadsters ever since have been modified models of the first Hupmobile.

Then came the Hupmobile touring car—of equally individual design.

That design was the father of this year's universally adopted "streamline."

Two years ago—at the New York Show—the Hupmobile revealed the streamline, tho' it was not designated by that name.

People recognized in that design, and in the engine, a marked advance in principle and practice.

For, two years ago, the Hupmobile showed at New York, for the first time in America, the small-bore, long-stroke motor, a type since very widely adopted.

And thousands of owners began spreading the conviction that the Hupmobile was "the best car of its class in the world" partly because of the pulling power of that motor.

So it has been in every detail of engineering development.

The Hupmobile has never forgotten that first promise concerning the large diamond and the small one.

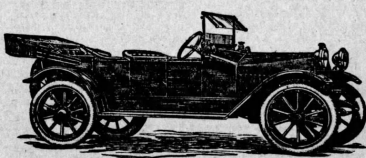

It has come to be recognized as essentially economical.

It is famous for its long life and for the high price it commands after long usage.

Its owners are not merely satisfied—they are actually fond of it.

That is why it has become known as "the car of the American family."

That is why so many of our owners believe with us—that it is "the best car of its class in the world."

Don't These Figures Tell Which Tire?

Note How Men Have Flocked to Goodyears Since Odometers Came In

In 1908—before the vogue of odometers—our sales for the fiscal year were

$2,189,749.49

And that was our ninth year of tire building.

In 1913—when nearly all cars came equipped with odometers—our fiscal year sales were

$32,998,827.25

Yet those multiplied sales—nearly 16 times larger—fall to tell the whole story. For tire prices dropped immensely. In the past year alone No-Rim-Cut tire prices have been reduced 28 per cent.

These figures are more startling still.

In our last fiscal year we sold eleven times as many automobile tires as in the fiscal year of 1909.

And this year's sales are exceeding last year's by 35 per cent.

Mileage Did It All

That's the simple result of mileage tests on hundreds of thousands of cars. Of tests applied to three million Goodyear tires.

ALL-WEATHER TREAD

GOOD YEAR

AKRON, OHIO

No-Rim-Cut Tires

With All-Weather Treads or Plain

Some other tires, in those years, dropped tremendously in sales. And the reason for all these ups and downs lies in odometer figures.

Four Ways in Which We Earned Success

We ended rim-cutting in No-Rim-Cut tires—a damage which still wrecks 31.8 per cent of all the old-tire types.

We lessened blow-outs by a process no one else employs. It adds to our tire cost $1,500 daily.

We reduced by 60 per cent the risk of tread separation by another exclusive method.

And we produced the All-Weather tread—combining the utmost in an anti-skid with the economies of smooth treads.

Those are the four chief reasons why No-Rim-Cut tires hold top place in Tiredom.

Go make the tests which other men have made. Give these tires a chance to win you by upkeeps figures only. We ask no favors which the tires don't earn. But we claim their records deserve a test.

HOT CONTEST ON RACE FOR SHERIFF'S ATTORNEY

Supporters of Three Candidates for Sheriff Are Close Friends, Too

One hot political race has developed from the contest for the sheriff's office of Fulton county and so small part in the melee is being played by three young lawyers whose first entrance this is into politics. Two of them have their eyes on the dignity and emoluments of the position of sheriff's attorney. The friends of all three have very nearly forgotten that Sheriff Wheeler Langum is running for reelection and that Captain W. M. Mayo and L. O. Wright are opposing him. If Sheriff Langum wins in the primary on May 5, Samuel D. Hewlett will have a chance. Roy Dorsey will be the attorney for the sheriff. If Captain Mayo wins, Mr. Dorsey will be the attorney for the sheriff. If Mr. Wright wins, Mr. Dorsey will be the attorney for the sheriff. The friends of all three have very nearly forgotten that Sheriff Wheeler Langum is running for reelection and that Captain W. M. Mayo and L. O. Wright are opposing him. If Captain Mayo wins, Mr. Dorsey will be the attorney for the sheriff. If Mr. Wright wins, Mr. Dorsey will be the attorney for the sheriff.

Two of the lawyers are managing the campaigns of their candidates. Mr. Jones has charge of that of Mr. Wright, and Mr. Dorsey is conducting that of Mr. Mayo. Mr. Dorsey does not appear in the campaign, but is directed through a committee of which L. B. Florence is chairman.

The three lawyers pitted against each other through the sheriff's contest, the fact that they are in the lists is adding much interest to the campaign and will be responsible in part for a heavy vote.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Dorsey were colleagues at the University of Georgia. Mr. Hewlett also is a "Georgia" boy. Mr. Dorsey and Mr. Jones began practice of law together, not as partners, but as fellow workers in the office in the Chandler building. Mr. Hewlett preceded them by a few years in the field of law.

W. H. JONES SAYS "Roy and Sam and I are having the time of our lives with this sheriff's contest. I hope they are as glad to see me made sheriff's attorney as I would be to see either of them win—if that were possible."

Mr. Dorsey rises to a point of order. "There is no provision in the constitution of the state that the position of sheriff's attorney," said he, "shall be held by a lawyer."

AUGUSTA'S MEMORIAL TO MAJOR ARCHIBALD BUTT

ERECTED AS TRIBUTE TO TITANIC HERO. Former President Taft and many other noted men will meet in Augusta on April 14, the second anniversary of the sinking of the Titanic for the dedication of the "Archibald Butt Memorial Bridge" erected in tribute to the former Augustan who was among those who sacrificed their lives for others in the great sea disaster.

Settlement Agreed On For Fire Alarm System

Okonite Company Representatives Confer With Mayor, and City Will Pay $87,500

As the result of a conference Saturday between Mayor Woodward and representatives of the Okonite company, which installed the city's new fire alarm system, a settlement between the city and the company is in sight.

Mayor Woodward said the figure would be somewhere between $45,000 and $90,000. It is understood it will be $87,500, to be exact, though the mayor didn't give exact figures.

The company's contract with the city goes back to the fall of 1912. The contract provided that the city should pay $105,000 in a series of annual installments. Mayor Woodward, when he went in office January 1, 1913, immediately attacked this contract on the ground that it was illegal, because of the deferred payment provision.

The matter reached along in this shape until the alarm was completed, toward the latter part of 1913, and the finance committee of general council in making up the 1914 sheet provided $105,000 to pay for the alarm, which is being satisfactory to the mayor.

Now the Okonite company, after considering this figure and considering the difficulty to be encountered in a fight with the mayor, has decided to compromise.

Good Bowels Are An Aid to Growth

Growing Children Need a Mild Laxative to Foster Regular Bowel Movement

As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother, and as the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health, great attention should be paid to them.

Food is of great importance, and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods. A food will constipate one and not another, and so we have healthy food like eggs causing biliousness to thousands, and a whole lot of fruit like bananas constipating many.

It is also to be considered that the child is growing, and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.

A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should have, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a laxative and tonic combined, so mild that it is given to little babies, and yet equally effective in the most robust constitution.

It is a small dose of Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and prompt action will follow in the morning. It not only acts on the stomach, but it is an opinion properties build up and strengthen the system generally, which is an opinion shared by Mr. John Day, of Bloomfield, N. Y.

He has a large family, and the ages where the growth and development must be watched. Little Marie has thrived especially well on Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mr. Day considers it the right laxative for young and old, and has found none better for his children.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid catarrhs, colic and all the ailments that are the result of indigestion and constipation. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 410 Washington St., Montreal, U. S. A. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Weevil Not Our Only Enemy

The Blood, Loaded with Destructive Germs is Cause of Most Disease

While most of us are worrying about the destructive pest in material life, it would be well to consider the effect of germs within us. People generally realize the necessity of keeping the blood pure. And those who have passed the blood through the microscope, speak from experience.

Our usual daily ration is often the cause of that sluggish blood which is the cause of most disease. These cause pellagra, malaria, blood poisoning and many other diseases. And it is generally known throughout the South that the one, genuine, specific antidote for all conditions of impure blood is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

From nature's own materials, not an ounce of drugs being used, it is prepared in more potent, more powerful, more searching and more productive of restorative results than from the most active of all the minerals employed in medicine.

Its action by elimination of the irritating poisons that infect the blood is one of the very important things to know.

You can get a B. S. at any drug store, but take no other so-called blood purifier. B. S. is prepared by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mr. Day considers it the right laxative for young and old, and has found none better for his children.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid catarrhs, colic and all the ailments that are the result of indigestion and constipation. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 410 Washington St., Montreal, U. S. A. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

The Week at the Playhouses

"A MODERN EVE" - ATLANTA

WHAT'S COMING TO THEATERS THIS WEEK

Atlanta: Monday and Tuesday, "A Modern Eve."

Forrest: Every night, with daily matinees, Keith Vandeville, with "Beauty is Only Skin Deep," as the headliner.

Bijou: Eddie Black company in "A Ragged Hero."

NEIL O'BRIEN - COMING TO ATLANTA

But One Offering at Atlanta, and Lyric Dark, but Forsyth and Bijou Have Solid Week

"A Modern Eve," which comes for the first time to the Atlanta Monday and Tuesday with a Tuesday matinee, was first staged at the New Theatre of Berlin, in August, 1911; under the German title of "Die Moderne Eva." The success was immediate and emphatic. The opera soon became the talk of Berlin and elsewhere. Composed by Franz Lehár and Leo Fall, scheduled to follow at the same playhouse, had to wait until the sweeping vogue of "A Modern Eve" had run its course. A little over a year ago Mort H. Singer, who had produced twelve musical comedies in Chicago during the past eight years, made a trip abroad. Hereafter he had placed his faith in the native librettist and composer. But while singing in a Berlin cafe one evening shortly after his arrival in that city, he heard an entrancing melody in wait time played by the orchestra. He went a note to the conductor, asking for the name and origin of the song and he received the answer: "Good-by, Every-body," from "A Modern Eve." He promptly cancelled all other engagements and attended a performance of "A Modern Eve" that same night. He was so impressed by the merits of the piece, by the haunting melody of its score, and by its librettist's adaptability for the American stage, that within two days he had secured exclusive rights to it on this side of the Atlantic. It might also be added that the sum paid for these rights was larger than that paid for either "The Merry Widow" or "The Chocolate Soldier."

Excellent Bill
For the Forsyth.
There is to be a bill of exceptional quality at the Forsyth this week. Every act has been booked with more than usual care and collectively should blend into one of the very best attractions of the season.

For his entrance into vaudeville, William A. Brady has taken an act from Elizabeth Jordan's play, "The Lady from Oklahoma," and under the title of "Beauty is Only Skin Deep," has fashioned it into one of the most complete and altogether enjoyable farces yet presented in vaudeville. The action of the little play is laid in Madam O'Reilly's beauty parlor in New York City. Nine actresses appear in the sketch.

It is hard to believe there is as much delightful music in an accordion as "Beauty is Only Skin Deep." He may be called the master of this instrument. In his native Italy Forsyth was a musical sensation. Here he has been acknowledged by modern musicians to be a miracle in the realm of harmony.

For many years McKay & Cantwell were the first rank of vaudevillians. When the partnership dissolved, each formed new associations which proved gratifying to all concerned. Johnny Cantwell took as a partner Miss Rita Baker, a charming little woman whose ability far exceeds her size. Heretofore she has been a part of the act of song and story called "Under the Gay White Lights."

The letter from Home, a recent play by John Stoker, is a cleverly terminating of laughter and sentiment. It is capably played by Thomas F. Jackson, assisted by Rita Baker. The two characters are a great deal of an optimist and the contrast of their viewpoint is decidedly amusing.

Few song writers can boast of more popular success than Harry Armstrong and Billy Clark. Their compositions have been sung and whistled universally. Among the many songs that have added to their reputation are "Sweet Adelaide," "Can't You See I'm Lonely?" "Baby Doll," "I Love My Wife, But Oh You Kid," "Shaky Dyes," and many others. They not only sing a number of their own songs, but link them together with a running fire of comedy that is bright, snappy and generally amusing.

Buckley's animals will be found irresistible to the kiddies. His Teddy bear, particularly will appeal to them. The little fellow not only performs clever tricks which are difficult and comical, but has been taught to use rolled-up newspapers and dogs. The performance proves him an animal trained of no mean ability.

Every act on the bill is of quality, and a great show is assured.

"A Ragged Hero"
At the Bijou.
The Eddie Black Stock company announces for the coming week a play which should by all odds make the biggest hit of any production that has been offered so far by this popular company. It is a three-act comedy-drama entitled "A Ragged Hero," running a story of love, hate and heroism that has always proved one of the most popular plays in stock company repertoire. The play does not lack in sensational features, as the story starts out with a baffling murder mystery, and takes the audience through five interesting acts.

The libretto is by the librettist of "A Modern Eve," and the production of Walter Van Dyke, the production will be metropolitan in every respect, and the scenic effects, especially gotten up for the week, will be in line with the very best that has been seen this season at the Bijou. Splendid roles will be given to the new members of the company, and the special engagement of R. H. Turner, prominently connected with the Mackay Stock company during its many weeks at the Lyric, will add material strength to the organization.

"A Ragged Hero" will be seen the entire week at the Bijou, with matinees at 2:30, and night performances at 8:30. On Monday night ladies will be admitted free when accompanied by an escort holding a paid 30-cent ticket purchased before 6 o'clock.

Neil O'Brien's
Minstrelle Coming.
Stimulated and encouraged by the success of his first annual tour, Neil O'Brien in this season duplicating the favorable impression already acquired and is said to be presenting another minstrel entertainment even bigger and better than the one which distinguished the inaugural efforts. Supported by a company of fifty people and with an entirely new and elaborate scenic investment, Mr. O'Brien, who is again un-der the leadership of his manager, Oscar F. Hodge, brings his latest organization to the Atlanta March 23 and 24.

IF KIDNEYS FEEL LIKE LEAD OR YOUR BACK HURTS, TAKE SALTS

The urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get out your ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful of a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then be sound. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush closed kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

We eat too much meat, which clogs kidneys, and they need a flushing occasionally. No man or woman who eats meat regularly makes a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. The kidneys form uric acid, which clogs the kidneys pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—(Advt.)

Investment Buying of New Crop Months Caused Rise in Cotton

Possibility of a Late Start,
Combined With Continued
Reports of Unsatisfactory Seed, Was Responsible for the Advance

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, March 14.—The cotton market showed continued firmness during today's trading. There was naturally more or less realizing for over the week end but after some irregularities

Liverpool was slightly disappointing, and first prices here were generally a point or two under yesterday's closing figures. Offerings, however, were readily taken around the opening level owing to a continued demand from foreign and local shorts in the summer months. Houses with Wall street and western connections were again buyers of new crop deliveries, but the near positions led the advance, selling about 7 to 10 points above Friday's final. New crop positions worked 2 or 3 points net higher and the net closed with net

Generally clear weather was reported in the south this morning, but conditions recently have been unsettled, and the possibility of a late start with the new crop, combined with continued reports of unsatisfactory seed in some sections of the belt, are considered responsible for investment buying of the new crop months. The stronger ruling of old crop deliveries is also supposed to have encouraged a more bullish view of early new crop positions around the Local spot people point out that, while there is still time to bring cotton from the eastern belt for delivery on March contracts, very little cotton has been received here from that source so far this season.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS

Fothschlig & Co.: We advise that October contracts are worth the money of July and we expect the margin between the two months will narrow.

Logan & Bryan: Sentiment at the moment is bullish mixed.

There is little incentive to promote a sustained rise still the nervousness of the shorts is likely to bring some further advance. Moyse & Holmes: There may be setbacks from time to time, but market is oversold and should work higher.

Bailey & Montgomery: The situation seems to favor further advances.

HAYWARD & CLARK'S COTTON LETTER.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 14.—Liverpool was about as expected for a Saturday, a Hi-the easier on futures on week-end information, but two higher on spots. Sales 7,000 bales. English consols $\frac{1}{4}$ up to 75¢ and European advices contain not a word about political troubles, showing that yesterday's rumors were merely aimed at the market. The short interest in New York, particularly for straddlers in the May position, seems quite large. The weather has fair weather and continued cold over the belt, fit for temperatures to the westward. 40 degrees in Los Angeles.

Our market opened slightly easier and remained a quiet Saturday affair without losing its firm and bullish undertone. The liquidation of straddles is holding our market back a little, while May in New York is recovering from the extreme depression under spot values in the south.

Thursday next week has to face two census reports. The one on Tuesday will give statistics on consumption and stocks held by our mills for February. It is expected to show a full consumption and shirt mill stocks. The census report on Friday, March 26, will give final gainings for the season. It will not include Hinters and is expected to show between 14,100,000 and 14,200,000 running bales, compared with 13,471,000 running bales, without Hinters last year.

COTTON SEED MEN TO MEET IN NEW ORLEANS

This association is composed of oil mill owners throughout the cotton-growing states and none have played a more important part in the upbuilding of this organization than those from Georgia.

New Orleans was selected as a place of meeting by the executive committee in Memphis this week. Georgia was represented on this committee by Fielding Wallace, of Augusta, former president of the Georgia association.

BUSINESS AND FINANCE

By W. S. Cousins, Editor The American Banker

New Financing Occupies Prominent Attention - New Haven Not Overcharged by Bankers - Money Rates Still Easy - Relaxation Also Seen in Grain Trade - Still Keeping Up - Crop Reports Now in Order

NEW YORK, March 15.—New financing of railroads and industrial companies has been the chief feature of interest during the past few weeks and in every instance the new offerings have been very favorably received in investment circles. Among the more important items of the recent period were the $10,000,000 Chesapeake and Ohio $35,000,000 note issue, the $10,000,000 Central District telephone issue, and the $12,000,000 first mortgage serial bonds of the I. C. Case Threshing Machine Co., offered simultaneously in New York and Chicago.

The new financing was somewhat too extensive under the present circumstances. The new financing was somewhat too extensive under the present circumstances. The new financing was somewhat too extensive under the present circumstances.

During the entire period, Morgan & Company handled $333,000,000 of New Haven securities, of which it realized $250,000,000, or about one tenth of one cent. In view of this enormous profit out of his New Haven transactions, it is any wonder that the late J. P. Morgan was a multi-millionaire at the time of his death? If his other financial operations had been equally profitable there is no telling what untold millions of wealth he might have amassed.

MONEY STILL EASY.
The money market has undergone little or no change, though the London market last week seemed unable to absorb some choice offerings of Provincial securities that were put out on an attractive basis. The $25,000,000 Canadian government loan, for example, met with no real success, but less than one-quarter of the amount being allotted to investors.

The bank of France has been drawing $2,000,000 in gold weekly from New York, making a total of $15,000,000 since the early part of January. This statement has been made by the bank of France, which has been drawing $2,000,000 in gold weekly from New York, making a total of $15,000,000 since the early part of January.

Money rates at home remain unchanged, though the constantly diminishing surplus of cash in the treasury has led some to make it probable that it would require but slight advance in the commercial demand for money to put a considerably different aspect upon the local money situation.

Industrial companies, the usual reports of which have been submitted during the past week have laid emphasis upon the scarcity of orders for railroad supplies and equipment. No real improvement has been indicated in the steel trade, and the absence of any orders for the production of spring steel in this line is one of the disappointing features of the situation.

General business is moving along in good volume. Complications of bank clearings do not seem to have been a factor in the reduction of new available funds. The first two months of the year show a reduction of about 2.6 per cent compared with the same period last year.

From this time on crop reports will receive increasing attention as an important indication of this year's wealth of the soil. The present statement of the crop situation is presented on April 7 will show the actual condition of the winter grains, though private accounts are highly satisfactory as they indicate very favorable conditions in the winter wheat territory.

WHAT WOMEN WOULD DO IF THEY HELPED GOVERN ATLANTA

S EVEN thousand Atlanta women have asked to share in city government by representative on city boards.

What use would they make of this part in municipal affairs?

The resolutions addressed recently to council by woman's clubs with a membership of 7,000, were restricted by a general statement from the women of the city.

In written comment which follows Atlanta women explain why they should share in municipal government as board members, and what they would do if given representation on city boards.

Atlanta would be made cleaner, healthier, and above all, measures would be urged for the better protection and development of children.

"To the question what Atlanta women would do if put on municipal boards, the answer rings clear and strong. Like their fellow women throughout the country they would set about their city's business with intelligence, enthusiasm, loyalty and zeal."

These sentences from the first statement to follow illustrate the tone of all. The statements are the first individual public expressions on the part of Atlanta women in regard to participation in city government.

Fitness Should Count Instead of Politics

By Mrs. Hugh M. Willett.

Men and women who read the signs of the times no longer question woman's fitness for and efficiency in filling high places in public life.

A cursory glance reveals the names of women who are a positive and a vital force in the world-wide struggle for better things. Among them are Jane Addams, who has been called America's foremost citizen; Caroline Bartlett Crane, the first municipal expert of America and known as a "Doctor of Cities"; Ella Flagg Young, declared by the Chicago Post to be the most efficient superintendent of schools that the city has ever had; and Julia Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau, the first woman to hold a great federal office.

In a large number of the states women have had for years recognition on state and municipal boards. In New York City women hold positions of great influence as members of the central board of education. In Colorado alone 500 women are members of school boards throughout the state.

Conservative England for a long time has permitted women on the school boards. Since 1902 they are not only eligible but by law must be appointed.

Atlanta women are abreast of the times; they are alive and alert to all issues of importance concerning their city government. They are less concerned than men in having clean streets, health-giving sewers, untainted milk, pure water, pure foods, good schools, recreation centers for children and adults, charities properly administered, adequate hospitals, and above all an efficient board of health with power to act and sufficient funds to meet the needs.

Many capable and public-spirited women have the time, the willingness and the proper qualifications for service on municipal boards. Statistics everywhere bear out the fact that women occupying these positions of trust take their responsibilities seriously, and their service is prompted largely by patriotism.

Civil service rules should be applied alike to men and women; fitness and efficiency should count instead of politics.

To the question what Atlanta women would do if put on the municipal boards, the answer rings clear and strong. Like their fellow women throughout the country they will set about their city's business with intelligence, enthusiasm, loyalty and zeal. They will advocate progress, they will work to improve conditions and to harmonize the discordant elements that often threaten the very life of the city. They will endeavor to bring about a one-sided purpose which will promote the city's goodness and greatness. In the future as in the past, whenever constructive work for Atlanta's upbuilding is to be undertaken, the women will respond nobly to the call.

Atlanta women, in knocking for admission and in presenting their claims for representation on the city boards, recognize that they are keeping wholly within their "sphere of influence." Should not the city's municipal housekeeping be of vital concern to every thinking woman of the city?

Health and Education Are My Two Hobbies

By Mrs. Robert L. Foreman.

What would I do if I had a share in city government? Let me see. There are lots of things. My two principal hobbies are health and education. I am sure I would try to start an agitation for laws that would really give the child a chance and make education compulsory for all. I should like to see the school buildings and yards used for neighborhood social centers and all children given well equipped playgrounds.

If I could have my way, no child under twelve years of age should work in shop or factory or sell papers on the street—I never pass the street newsboys on rainy, wet, freezing days, and see them darting among the automobiles and street cars with wet clothes and shoes and think of my own well-housed little ones, without feeling somehow that it is all wrong. I feel that in some way I should help change the condition of things—laws in the plastic period of their lives, and at all hours of the day or night when there are many unemployed men who should be wage-earners.

Sir Alfred Russell Wallace, Darwin's co-worker, said that "Man's mentality has not noticeably improved since the days of the earliest Egyptian civilization—that the brain is just about as it was then—but that the education and environment of the individual is what has produced a seemingly great advance in other words, to raise the level of the whole. We have a lot to learn from the trolley cars and in the streets, and our yards—frequently passing beneath our dining room windows. As one glances out of the windows, on the trolley cars and in the streets, it purifies us—it is with us constantly, yet nothing is done. The power automobiles, through the streets of Atlanta have decided that they can do anything. Serving usefully upon a municipal board seems to me a task far more than their previous training and their suppressed ability. For the whole of a city's affairs fall under the heads of administration and disbursement, and these are the two great lines of woman's life-work. Men administer and disburse on the side, as it were, their business being to engage in "gainful occupations."

Running a city is not a gainful occupation—nor should it be. Indeed, we can say it isn't in Atlanta.

Women, on the other hand, have thought in recent years, forced by circumstances (many of which were done for niente husbands!) to engage in "gainful occupations," have really always belonged much more to the "administration and disbursement" side of life—and that is just what a municipal board has to do. Another reason why I know women can be of use on municipal boards is that they already are, in one state alone (Colorado) on one kind of board alone (education) there were 500 women board members in 1912. Goodness knows how many there are now! I don't, but I know if they were not making good on those boards they would not stay there—nor should they. This reminds me to break the thread of my argument sufficiently to comment upon that often heard remark:

"Oh, yes, the exceptional woman would be valuable upon city boards," by asking if it is the exceptional man who is always found upon city boards? It not only is not so, but there is no reason to hope or expect that such will be the case. This is a democracy as much of abilities as of birth and means—women will average up with men and that's all we can ask. To return to our motto, let's answer the remark that the state where 500 women were on boards of education in 1912 (Colorado) is a state where women vote. That is true, but that would effect only their settling on these boards, not their ability to be useful after they got there.

For, certainly, we do not believe that having the vote makes women any more capable than not having it?

Because if we believed that we should have at once to give the vote to them!

And indeed, the vote has nothing to do with this matter, apparently, for the right to hold any school office (and free to vote for school officials) exists in twenty-three states, to wit: New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Oregon, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, Washington and California.

In Maine, New Jersey, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana and Iowa additionally women may do so (in 1912), serve as school trustees.

This is only one kind of municipal board, so it may be interesting to know what prominent offices were held by women in one state in 1912. State superintendent of instruction, regent state university, member state penitentiary commission, four members legislature, judge county court, eagle constable and auditor, city of Pueblo, two members state board charities and corrections, president civil service commission, trustee state normal school and state school for deaf and blind, factory inspector, four out of five members both business (train station) and industrial school for girls, forty-five out of sixty-two school superintendents, and 500 members board of education.

Now if these Colorado women did these things well, can anybody question that our women here in Atlanta could give valuable service on such boards and committees as schools, libraries, parks and playgrounds, sanitation and health, charities, hospitals, etc.?

I do not question their usefulness, but as I consider the troublesome complex municipal work being done every day (and more and more of it surging up each day) the more I seem absurd that the genuine interest and voluntary efforts of any competent human beings (men or women) should not be focused directly upon the issue.

The loss, in such cases, is more that of the city than of the women workers, except in so far as that women are an integral part of a community and so share in its well-being and have a right to share also in its work.

Upon this question of women upon municipal boards, I personally can speak freely, since I am not eligible to same. My service to my community would have to be rendered as county commissioner!

Home Loyalty More Than Party Loyalty

By Mrs. A. P. Coles.

The placing of women upon certain municipal boards has passed the experimental stage in many of our largest cities, though it is quite a new proposition for Atlanta. Since I have been asked to express an opinion, I must say I can see naught out good to come from such a change. The growing interest in studies of sociology, child welfare, home chemistry and all the broken widening horizon for women, who seeing more clearly causes and remedies for defects in woman's school, theater and vacation, are desiring ways to relief and cure. There are so many calls for the wise, thoughtful, trained woman, who is able to minister to the relief of pitiable conditions of today, it seems a good excellent thing that she should give of her understanding to the aid in the creation of measures and laws that shall prevent such conditions for tomorrow.

Women who feel such enthusiasm when it comes to questions bearing upon educational, industrial and health conditions that she cannot wait to inspire such departments or work such this kind of interest and effort. She might even find a way to make party loyalty seem less important.

Can women be of service upon a municipal board?

It begins on the Pacific coast, and it climbs up the mountain at an altitude of 55,565 feet. It crosses the mountain and goes down to the Indian market of Oroya on the other side of the mountain. It is built by the government from the navigable tributaries of the Amazon. It is the longest road probably come when this road will be a part of a steam route across the continent. The road is 1,000 miles long. The road is built on a grade of about 1 percent; there is no place where a train can slide by gravity clear into the ocean. The road is of standard gauge.

MR. DOOLEY

ON THE CRISIS BY FINLEY PETER DUNNE

"Th' prisidint iv th' bank has a flashlight picture took iv th' scene to show that th' consarn is solvent."

"He used to ketch with his naked hands ontill his hands got so busted that ye cudden't screen soft coal with thim."

"I DON'T know," said Mr. Dooley, "I don't know whether we ought to interfere or not."

"In Mexico?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"Don't talk like a congressman," said Mr. Dooley. "I'm not half as much bothered about Mexico as I am about th' quarls an' love affairs iv th' cats in th' backyard next dure. It's strange what thim fellows down in Wash'nton thinks is intrinsist' to th' American people. Whin they're thyrin' to innoce us to save thim fr'm th' privations iv life at home they tell us that if they land they'll devote themselves entirely to our intrinsists. But whin they get into th' innervativ' atmosphere, as Hogan says, iv a Wash'nton boardin' house they forget all about us an' spend their time solvin' picture puzzles iv high finance an' high diplomacy that are no more use to me thim so much aljibbera, be hives."

"Th' nex' time that long haired Prince Albert coat an' white necktie that thinks it ribbons me in congress comes in here an' thinks to wheedle me out iv vote that ought to be worth $2 iv anny man's money I'm goin' to say: 'Whin I put ye where ye are ye promised to devote yer time to makin' life more merry fr' me. An' what have ye done beyant movin' out iv me neighborhood? Have ye shook th' furnace, or looked after th' plumbin', or mended th' beer pump, or swept th' snow off th' sidewalk, or carried in th' coal or stopped th' draft under th' front dure, or fixed th' broken spring iv th' mattress, or kilt th' organ grinder, or thawed out th' wather pipe? Thim are th' things that affect me life, not th' controversy between William Jennings Bryan an' th' Frinch sicerity iv state fr' affairs—that're none iv his-business-ayther over th' troubles iv Belochystan. Don't tell me about yer vote on th' income tax. Th' on'y people that are bothered about th' income tax are th' few that have incomes so large that they're not bothered about anything. I received an income tax blank to fill out meself fr'm a jecose government among me other mail on th' fourteenth iv Feb'y. I will say this, that, though, like all comic valentine's was a little vulgar an' personal an' touched on wan iv me principal deformities, I got a hearty laugh out iv it before I thru it away with th' others that joshed me about me bald head an' th' size iv me feet. But other people might be more sensitive. I am easily understand that this coarse pleasantry might not be relished be a man that had th' misfortune to be born without an income an' hadn't been able to make wan grow on him since. I must say that gettin' th' pleasure I have had thinkin' th' return has been spilled be th' thought iv hundreds iv onforchits who have had to explain to a collector iv eternal rev'nos that they never see that all th' time they have been pretidin' to have a role income they've been stumpin' around on an artificial wan."

"No, sir, th' things that people talk about in Wash'nton an' th' things they talk about where they have a vote are not th' same. It pains me to see Dock Wilson agytatin' his mind an' wadin' his time writin' letters to Sir Ed Grey about Pancho Villa an' other gunmen whin our own country is on th' brink iv civil war over th' base-ball situation. Ye don't catch th' King iv England wadin' his time on such thivalities. No, sir, he's at his post iv jooty in th' front seat iv th' gran'stand with a bottle iv pop in wan hand an' a chunk iv cracker-jack in th' other, yellin' 'Rotten!' at th' empire an' callin' on Mike Donlin to jump feet first into th' shortstop's lap. He's a smart little king, that same George th' Fifth. He knows how to cement th' Anglo-Saxon alliance whin it begins to crack at th' joints. We'll never fight with a monarch that can figure out a double play, Collins to Barry, to McGinnis. He understands better thim th' hired hands under him what institution we're proudest iv, an' that there'd be more ginyoine grief in th' homes iv America if Joe Tinker sprained his ankle thim iv Cole Blease broke his neck."

"There's no wan prouder iv th' growth iv base-ball thim meself, an' faith I ought to be, fr' haven't I watched it fr'm its infancy, whin th' Forest Citys bate th' Peatonica Blues be a score iv two hundred an' eight to nawthin'?

I remember whin siven mibbers iv th' champagne-ply team wore side whiskers an' whin wan iv thim, Harry Wright be name, had as complete a beard as th' wan that gives Jim Ham Lewis th' on'y privacy he has iver enj'ied. I've seen Jim White pitch in spectacles, an' I remember whin th' best base stealer in th' league had a club fut. I've known ivry pitcher fr'm Al Spalding to Eddie Welsh. This very re-threat where ye are standin' now used to be th' thrainin' quarters fr' Mike Kelly, th' grandest player iv thim all an' th' on'y man that cud make an error so laughable that ye wudden't be able to scoot it fr' merrymint. I remember whin Cap Anson, a raw country boy, come to Chicago fr'm Marshalltown, Iowa—"

"D'ye remember Wash'nton at Valley Forge?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"Valley Forge was in th' Pennsylvania State league, an' we didn't pay anny attention to th' businers in thim days," said Mr. Dooley. "I remember whin th' ketcher used to stand behind th' plate, without mask or chist protector or gloves, an' take thim all, high an' low, in or out. Ye cudden't get Old Hoss Flint to put on that armor anny more thim he wud a diver's suit. He used to ketch with his naked hands ontill his hands got so busted that ye cudden't screen soft coal with thim, an' thim he caught with his nose or his stomach. He didn't care."

"In thim days I niver expected to see base-ball become th' b-naneyal institution it is today. Th' season was shorter. About th' middle iv May th' great athlete turned over th' reins iv th' grocery team to other hands an' wint down to th' ball park an' reported to th' cap. He played ontill th' ear muffs blossomed in th' gran'stand an' thim resumed his civic jooties. Durin' th' winter he was just like th' rest iv us. Ye niver heard iv him unless he got into trouble with th' polis. Nowadays th' winter is th' peeryod iv his greatest activity. There's more base-ball news whin th' snow is on th' ground thim there is in th' summertime. Most base-ball players show little intrinsist in th' game ontill th' season is over. But whin th' cold weather comes they begin to warm up, an' many a sturdy fellow that had to be led away fr'm first base be th' ear makes a record as th' spryest contract jumper in ayther league. Some iv thim go on th' stage an' become great actors. Others take up lithrachoos as a pro-fission, an' many iv th' best articles in th' pa-pers is wrote be ball players without th' aid iv a mask. If Horace Greeley was to return to 'arth, th'

"Wan had as complete a beard as th' wan that gives Jim Ham Lewis th' on'y privacy he has iver enj'ied."

chancets are th' foreman iv th' composin' room wud come to his desk some night an' shake a proof under his nose an' say, 'Look here, ol' hoss, ye'll have to cut this editorial on 'Th' Fate iv th' Nation' down to a stick. We've just got in a article on fungo hittin' be Stuffy McGinnis. I wint by th' office iv a magazine th' other day an' see a crowd standin' at th' dure. 'What's th' excitement?' says I. 'We're waitin' fr' him to come out,' says a man. 'Who's Roodyard Klippin'?' says I. 'No,' says he; 'Ping Bodie. He's signin' an article on th' 'Neo-Platonist Theory iv th' Spit Ball,'" he says. 'Th' idiot has offered him forty thousand dollars, but he says if he don't get fifty he'll jump to th' Quarterly Review.'

"It's a great change fr'm my day. Th' heroes I knew cudden't feel a pen in their hands unless it was as big as a paint brush an' had nails in th' handle. An' I niver heard iv a pro-fissional ball player entirin' a bank—at laste in th' daytime. Now, whin Ty Cobb goes down to wan iv these hardware stores with a trunk containin' his weekly wages th' prisidint iv th' bank has a flashlight picture took iv th' scene to show that th' consarn is solvent. Jawanny Evers wishes us to deny th' story circulated fr' its effect on th' stock exchange that he has consinted to jine th' board iv th' Standard Ile comp'ny. It is reported that Josh Devore will give his entire collection iv rare paintings, Chinese porcyelains, an' Pershyan rugs to th' art museum. If ye see a young fellow modestly dressed in a pink an' green checked suit, with an acetylene headlight in his shirt front, hurryin' down th' street an' peevishly rejectin' an' effort iv a tear-stained man in a tattered sealskin overcoat to stick money into his pocket, don't think they are rehearsin' a scene in a loonytick asylum fr' th' movies. No, sir. Ye ar-re witnessin' an attempt iv a Federal league magnate to lure a white slave into captivity."

"It's time our government stepped in an' made an investigation iv this traffic. It was bad enough a few years ago, whin th' slave raiders fr'm th' ol' leagues used to descend on th' peaceful hamlets iv th' west an' seize an' carry off th' finest an' strongest iv their young men. Far away fr'm his home in Cedar Rapids th' poor chattel pined away th' long summer afternoons in th' scorchin' outfield iv Shibe park, whither he was driven in an automobile be a harsh taskmaster. Ivry day fr'm three to five he toiled most iv th' time in th' blazing sun, sometimes bein' compelled to run thirty or forty feet over th' parched grass to overtake th' crool an' tantailzin' base hit. An' whin he left this post iv torture, was he allowed to relax his achin' limbs in sleep? No, sir; as he set on a hard bench, buryin' his head in his hands, which he cud easily do, th' harsh cry iv 'Cassidy up!' dhrove him to th' plate, where he was compelled to stand sometimes fr' a whole minyiv iv agony, shirklin' at a ball hurled be another gladiator. If he anny chance he shut his eyes an' hit it, he was obliged to stagger a distance iv ninety feet, an' if his faintin' limbs refused to carry him at great speed he was saluted with foul epithets, such as 'Ice wagon!' an' th' like be th' onfeelin' mulchidome. An' ye must remember, Himnissy, that these serfs ar-re immature young men, condemned to this brutal an' degradin' toil at an age whin more favored youths are carryin' th' hod. An' what compensation did they get fr' it? Sildom more thim tin thousand dollars a year, with what they cud pick up as th'rajeedans an' authors."

"Thin come this here Federal league an' made their condition aven worse! It appears, Himnissy, that a number iv men who have grown rich in th' quick lunch business, not satisfied with their inhuman wurruk, has been attracted be th' hope iv gain to take a hand in th' traffic in human souls. In many cases high-handed violence has been used. I pick up th' pa-aper an' read: 'Exthry—Jiggs Mulcahy Kidnaped!—At tin thirty-two this mornin', as Mulcahy, th' cillybrated second baseman iv th' Scorpions, was proceedin' in his automobile to breakfast, he was set upon be ruffians in th' employ iv th' Federal league, who hate his chauffeur into insinissability an' overpowered Mulcahy be stuffin' his mouth with gold certificates, thus preventin' his outcries fr'm bein' heard. A darin' attempt be agents iv th' their league to rescue him was foiled be his despr't captors, who carried their victim to a neighborin' catty, where he was rendered unconscious with champagne. While in this condition he was incoiced to sign a contract surrenderin' himself into captivity fr' thirty thousand dollars a year, provided he was allowed to use an anymobile in runnin' bases. It is feared that he has been spirited away to Brooklyn, where he is locked up in a safety deposit vault."

"No wonder th' country is all wurruk up over th' situation. Here's something that congress an' th' prisidint ought to get busy about. There ought to be a federal commission to investigate th' condition an' housin' iv professional base-ball players. I'm no Socialist, Himnissy, but whin an institution gets to be so important to th' country as base-ball it ought to be took over be th' naytional government. Ye, sir. It is time fr' Dock Wilson to quit foolin' with such pollytical crosshain' as th' revolution in Mexico an' th' anti-trust legislation an' do somethin' that appeals to th' heart iv th' American people."

"Some people think there's too much business in base-ball. They think a ball player ought to be like a pote or a lawyer an' have anny money he gets secreted in a bunch iv viles that's handed to him be his admirers. I don't agree with thim. Divle a bit do I care whether a man is playin' ball fr' th' fun iv it or fr' a retainer that Elihu Root wud be ashamed to take before he quit th' game, so long as he pastes thim on th' thrade-mark whin he's up an' hauls thim down with wan hand whin he's in th' field. Ye'll see me in a front seat at th' first game, watchin' th' nimble young f-nanceers at play an' yellin', 'Take him off!' at th' fellow who ain't got nawthin' on th' ball but his good intentions, regardless iv his ratin' in th' Bradstreet's dictionary iv merit. Between you an' me, I'd just as soon watch a white slave playin' as a bould freeman. An' if he played better ball, I'd sooner. I haven't a care in th' wuruld whether his constitootynal rights is guaranteed, so long as he gets down to sicord ahead iv th' ball."

"I see be th' pa-aper that it's a shame that a base-ball player shud get three times as much sal'ry as a college pro-fessor," said Mr. Hennessy.

"He may be worth three times as much," said Mr. Dooley. "If a man's value to th' wuruld was measured be his wages, a street sprinkler wud get more thim a bank prisidint. But it ain't."

"But d'ye honestly think Tris Speaker ought to get more thim th' prisidint iv Harvard college?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"That," said Mr. Dooley, "is a matter I can't give an opinion on. I niver see Dock Lowell play. I'd lave th' natter to a vote iv th' students iv that great an' fash-nable resort. I'd let thim decide whin athlete it gives thim more pleasure to see perform."

"D'ye think they'd raise Speaker's sal-ry?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"No," said Mr. Dooley, "but they might cut down Prisidint Lowell's."

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf from an old book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and small dark spots, characteristic of old paper. A dark, vertical border is visible on the right side of the page, possibly indicating the edge of the book's binding or a shadow from the scanning process.

A black and white line drawing of a woman in profile, wearing a sari, looking at a rectangular control panel. The panel has a central diamond-shaped button with a circle inside, surrounded by eight circular buttons with various symbols: a musical note, a flower, a heart, a star, a triangle, a circle, a square, and a cross. A hand is shown pressing one of the buttons.

If what you say means one thing to me and another to you, it is no wonder it is so hard to expect that you will both draw the same conclusion from your words. The same is true of the words of the Bible. They are altogether different from another person's words. I have often been surprised to meet you in "a few minutes," and have something ready in "a little while" which I have never said before in any form of words conversely.

"I have been waiting away all day a very short time," I heard a mother proudly preach her daughter the other day. "But it was a short time!" cried the daughter. "It was a long time!" said the mother. There were meant to come away for so long!"

Perhaps this difference of conception is the cause of the waste of money in anywhere else except in that of time. I have often been surprised to hear you hope of getting what you want unaided. You put your own ideas into concrete form, and then you expect that the person to whom the average recipe as written by the author of the magazine is intended, and the average reader is likely to be satisfied and a success.

"I want a fool proof direction for making a cake," I once wrote to my editor. He wrote me nothing long. I knew just what he meant. I was in sympathy. Often enough in my own day I had groaned over instructions for making a cake. I had found it a bitter "to the right consumption" of my "no" time. I had understood the earnestness of her wish.

Many of the recipes written by my friends and in the magazines are so unhelpful and often inexperienced can follow the directions and get a cake, but it is not the same as the one I want.

were out of line with the centerpiece, the straightened them and called the girl a distraction to the change.

"She never seems to be able to get the rights," she said, in one of the many times I left the room. "I have spoken of it often before, but it occurred to me today that I could just punt out to her the relative power of the different articles. It would be more for her than any amount of theorizing on the subject."

In the same way a finger drawn over dusty surface and leaving a line behind it, a spot pointed out on a slide or a piece of silver carries more weight than any number of admissions to be careful with the dusting or the cleaning. Words may mean

One error into which we all slip is that of not putting our duties into plain facts. We leave too much to the comprehension of others, because we are too violently too lazy to share our commands. I have seen more than one man say, "I have said more than I have done." I have seen more than one man say, "I have said more than I have done." I have seen more than one man say, "I have said more than I have done."

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND.

Starting a Woman's Exchange.
WILL you please tell me how to start a woman's exchange or place not in connection with a hotel who can give me this information? I would be greatly obliged to you for this help. Mrs. A. C. ...
I cannot tell you exactly how to begin such an enterprise, but if you will write to the woman's exchange in any large city, inclosing a stamp for reply, you will doubtless receive the information you wish. I know there is a good deal of work involved in connection with it, for usually the person to be a board of trustees or directors and I am not sure but the organization has to be incorporated to comply with the statutes of the state. I am sending your letter here, and hope it may be helpful, and that this hope may be fulfilling it. Your name will be put on file and I will be glad to give your address to any one who can help you with the counsel you need.

Making a Stamp Collection.

Stains on a Tablecloth.

"I would like to ask you or some member of the Corner if there is any way of getting watermelon stains from a fine white linen tablecloth. The cloth has been washed but not boiled and the stains show plainly. I am sure it is impossible to get to remove them. Could you, advise any reliable concern to whom I could send the cloth and have the stains taken out by chemicals? I would be so appreciative of helpful advice. Here is a recipe for Angel Charlotte nure, a dish I like to make. 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup oil, 1/2 cup vinegar, 1/2 cup water, one cup granulated sugar, quarter pound almonds blanched and cut up fine, twelve marsh-

Put on ice and allow to congeal. Two hours is generally sufficient.

Mrs. W.O.R.

Thank you for the recipe. It sounded so good the dish made from it should be as delightful. To my mind it would be even better if poured into a mold lined with lady fingers or slices of sponge cake. Having now tried doing this with it. As to the table cloth, stretch the stained part over a bowl and pour boiling water through it. Repeat the process a number of times. The seiden falls to take out such spots. As to the rug, I have tried the Cornsall's. I am unable to recommend any special cleaner, but I believe the course I have advised will prove satisfactory. If any of you have tried this with success, please let me know. I will be happy to print it. Let me say for reference to future stains that if the boiling water treatment is given before soap is applied it rarely fails to take out the mark entirely.

Preserving Rippe Olives.

These dates differ from any I have ever seen before. Several of the celebrations never have even heard of and they seem to me rather farfetched. Every one is familiar with the fifth, tenth, fifteenth, twentieth, twenty-fifth, fiftieth, and seventy-fifth—wooden, tin, crystal, china, silver, gold and diamond—and I have known of the one who took account of the second and seven anniversaries, but I confess it seems to me rather overelaboration to follow out the line of those I have named above. He writes: "I am writing to you on a very interesting matter: My sister (28 years old) came over from our home in Germany about 1930 and she has been living in this country and incidentally to learn English and she got acquainted with a man who is now married. She has been married and she became more and more fond of this country, so that she decided to stay here. She is now 35 years old and has twelve years. NEW WATER CREAM

BY E. W. MORRIS

I. THE LIES OF MARCH

It was 1230 when I returned to the Albany as a last desperate effort. The scene of my disaster was much as I had left it. Raffles himself had merely discarded his dining jacket for one of his innumerable blouses.

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

"Not come back for your revenge, have you?"

In truth I feared that it was changing, with his expression; even as I spoke, and in spite of his kindly tone and kinder use of my old school nickname.

"What a boy it is for jumping to conclusions!" I have my vice, Bunn, but lacking and filling is not one of them.

"You're right, Bunn. You speak of another chance at baccarat? No, my dear chap, you've plunged enough. Do you put yourself in my hands, or do you not?"

"Well, then, you plunged no more, and I undertake not to present my check. Unfortunately, there are the other men; and still more unfortunately, Bunn, I'm as hard up at this moment as you are yours."

"It was as this turn to stare at Raffles. 'You!' I vociferated. 'You hard up? How can I be at here and believe that?'"

"Did I refuse to believe it?" he returned, smiling. "I have nothing but my wit to live on—absolutely nothing else. We're in the same boat, Bunn; we'd better pull together."

"Together!" I jumped at it. "I'll do anything in this world for you, Raffles. I said, 'If you really mean that you won't give me away. Think of anything but a furnished room for you, Raffles.'"

"Again I see him, leaning back in one of the luxurious chairs with which his room was furnished. I see his indolent, athletic figure; his pale, sharp, clean-shaven features; his curly black hair; his strong, unscrupulous mouth. And again I feel the clear beam of his wonderful eye, cold and luminous as a star, shining into my brain—offering me five acres of my heart."

"I wonder if you mean all that?" he said, looking at me over his shoulder. He got up, lit a fresh cigarette, and fell to pacing the room once more, but with a slower and more thoughtful step, and for a much longer period than before.

Meanwhile a clock on the chimney-piece struck one, and one again for the half-hour, without a word between us.

Yet I not only kept my chair with patience, but I acquired for my own use, and in a matter of half-hour, an insensibility that had shifted my burden to the broad shoulders of this splendid friend, and I thought, with my eyes as the sun, I was thinking of that night when he had the narrow squeak at school; he believed in you, you say."

"I was thinking of it too," he smiled, as though he had read my thoughts.

"Well, you were the right sort of little beggar, then, Bunn; you didn't talk and you didn't fight. You asked no questions and you told no tales. I wonder if you're like that now? You would stick at nothing for a pal—wouldn't you?"

"At nothing in this world," I was pleased to cry.

"Not even at a crime?" said Raffles, smiling.

"No, not even at a crime," I declared; "mine your crime, and I'm your man."

He looked at me one moment in wonder, and another moment in doubt; then turned the matter off with a shake of his head, and the little circuit laugh that was his own.

"You're a nice chap, Bunn! A real desperate character—what? Scrupulous moment, and any crime I like the next! None the less we must have that money tonight—by hook or crook."

"Tonight, Raffles?"

"The sooner the better. Every hour after 10 o'clock tomorrow morning is an hour of risk. Let one of those checks get round to your bank, and you and I are dishonored together. No, we must take the wind tonight and reopen your account first thing tomorrow. And I rather think I know where the wind can be raised."

"At 2 o'clock in the morning?"

"But how—where—at such an hour?"

"From a friend of mine here in Bond street."

"He must be a very intimate friend!"

"Intimate is not the word. I have the run of his place and a latchkey all to myself."

"And it's essential that I should go in with you?"

"Absolutely."

"Then must; but I'm bound to say I don't like the idea, Raffles."

"Do you prefer the old native?" asked my companion, with a sneer. "He hangs out of him, wherever he is, still of his own free will."

"It's the devil of a night bird. No sound, Bunn! We'll startle the life out of him."

"The measure, step had passed without a pause. Raffles drew a deep breath, and his singular grip of me slowly relaxed."

"But still, not a sound," he continued in the same whisper, "will take a risk out of him, wherever he is, still of his own free will."

"Well, you may wonder at my doing so, but you can never have met A. J. Raffles. You might question, but you followed that. So now, when I heard him kick off his own shoes, I did the same, and was on the stairs at his heels before I realized what an extraordinary way was this of approaching a stranger for money in the dead of night."

We groped our way so slowly upstairs that I had time to make more than one note before we reached the top. The stair was unoccupied. The spread rug of my right hand encouraged me to step on the damp wall; those of my left trailed through a dust that could be felt on the histere. An acute sensation came as upon me when we entered the house. It increased with every step we climbed.

We came to a landing. The banister led us to the left, and to the left again. Four steps more, and we were on another floor, and a longer landing, and suddenly a match blazed from the black. I never heard it struck. Its flash was blinding. When my eyes became accustomed to the light, there was Raffles holding up the match with one hand, and shading it with the other, between bare boards, striped walls, and the open doors of empty rooms.

"Where have you brought me?"

"The house is unoccupied!"

"Hush! Wait!" he whispered, and he led the way into one of the empty rooms. His match went out as we crossed the threshold, and he struck another without the slightest noise. Then he stood with his back to me, fumbling with something that I could not see. But when he threw the second match away, there was some light in its stead, and a slight smell of oil. I stepped forward to look over his shoulders, but before I could do so he had turned and flashed a tiny lantern in my face.

"Not so fast," said I. "Did I put this into your head, or were you going to do it in any case?"

"Not in any case," said Raffles. "I've had the key for days, but when I was tonight I thought of chucking it for a matter of fact, it's not a one-man job."

"That settles it. I'm your man."

"You mean it?"

"Good-for-night," he murmured, holding the lantern for one moment to my face; the next he was explaining his

We crept very gingerly down the stairs, which creaked a bit in spite of us, and we picked up our shoes in the passage; then down some narrow stone steps, at the foot of which Raffles showed his light, and put on his shoes once more, blinding me do the same in a rather louder tone than he had permitted himself to employ before. We were now considerably below the level of the street, in a small space with as many doors as it had sides. Three were ajar, and we saw through them into empty cellars; but in the fourth a key was turned and a bolt drawn; and he stepped through the glass door on the other side and see his handwork in the shop beyond. Here two electric lights were burning all night long, and in their cold, very decent port and some glasses meant for poor dear Danby's business friends. Take a pull, and you shall light up presently. I've found a lavatory, and we must have a wash-and-joust-up before we go, for I'm as back as your boot.

ATLANTA A CITY OF GARDENS

By William Garrard

Six o'clock on a summer morning. The sun is bright in the heavens; the breeze through your open window blows clean and cool; in your garden, green and flourishing, red tomatoes are waiting to be picked.

You jump out of bed, scramble into a blue shirt, a pair of disreputable overalls and earth-begrimed shoes. You wake up Johnny, in the next room, from dreams of marbles and Ty Cobb, help him get into his barefooted costume, and together you and your son go into the garden.

Soon two hoses, a big and little one, are cutting out the weeds and loosening the earth between rows of sweet corn. You and Johnny, inspired by the thought of fresh, sliced tomatoes for breakfast, work heartily.

Johnny is presently absorbed in catching and killing the funny little bugs on the potato plants; you are hoeing busily around three rows of young carrots which have pushed their green heads perceptibly higher since the previous morning.

For an hour the gardening continues; then, tired, dirty and happy, you and Johnny, with tomatoes in your arms, return to feast on the spoils, which your wife waiting on the back porch, will prepare for breakfast.

A cold bath; business clothes; breakfast; and then a day's work that is equal to three before you started your garden.

Everybody Gardens Here

No, this is not a dream of county life nor a suburban ideal. It is simply a daily occurrence in the heart of Atlanta during the warm months when the many gardens, planted in April, begin to yield their vegetables.

For Atlanta, with its homes built on lots of generous proportions, is a city of gardens.

Behind a surprising number of the imposing homes on Peachtree street you will find gardens as flourishing as any in country towns, though perhaps not as large. And all over the city, from West End to Druid Hills, gardens are plentiful.

In fact, according to W. H. Letton, manager for the retail department of a big local seed company, over seventy-five per cent of the households of this city have gardens.

Atlanta is full of gardens. The number is increasing every year. People are realizing more and more what a valuable asset a garden is. Health is in a garden; interest in growing things; a touch of country life, very pleasant to the city-bound worker; and, from a more practical standpoint, a garden is a most valuable business proposition in these times of high living and high prices. According to Mr. Letton, provided you have the bare earth to begin with, an investment of $8, plus a plentiful use of muscle and discretion enough to follow printed directions on packets of seeds, will produce from $10 to $20 worth of fresh vegetables between the first of April and the first of October.

What It Costs

"On a plot 50 by 50 feet enough vegetables can be raised for an ordinary family," he said.

"Two dollars' worth buy enough seeds for the whole season, of all sons to all the labor of preparing properly and fertilizing his soil and planting; having waited and watched anxiously, and then to have but here and there along the row a straggling seedling push its way through the soil, is indeed disappointing. Buy always the best seed you can get. Inferior seed is costly if it is to be had as a gift. The safest way to buy seeds is to order them from the most reliable firm you know of. And order them early.

When to Plant

Another thing which will require a great deal of care is the selection of varieties. A good rule to go by is to get several catalogues and order those varieties which are recommended by several seedmen.

A number of the early things in the garden—lettuce, cabbage, beets, etc., will be "set out" instead of growing from seed. Since small gardeners have no greenhouse it is best for them to buy from a local florist or market gardener. In selecting the "setting out" plants choose those that are short "stock" and well "hardened off" that is, plants which have been out of doors, day and night for several days.

In planting, the right time is of vital importance.

Asparagus seed should be planted in April or May; asparagus plants in April; dwarf bean, May 2, to August 15; lima bean, May 29 to June 15; pole bean, May 16 to June 15; early beet, April-June; late beet, April-May; brussels sprouts, April-May; cauliflower, April-June; celery plants, July 1 to August 1; celery seeds, August 1 to September 15; eggplant, June 1 to June 20; endive, April 1 to August; lettuce, April-August; onion, April; okra, May 15 to June 15; parsnip, May 15 to June 15; peas, April 15 to June 15; potatoes, April 15 to June 20; radish, April-May; spinach, April 1 to September 15; tomato plants, May 15 to July 20; tomato seed, June 1 to September 15.

Firming the Soil

In planting one thing to be kept in mind, especially when planting in dry weather, is to firm the soil in the hole, and before covering, press the seeds down firmly into the soil with the back of a narrow hoe or rake of the flat of the foot.

the gardening myself. Agree with me? Why I'm the healthiest person you could imagine. And the garden did it all."

Many young married couples in Atlanta find that gardening is conducive to domestic happiness. Aside from the substantial saving it affords in fresh vegetables for the table, the easy of all our gardeners neighbors."

"My wife always used to spend her mornings shopping," said one young husband. "Now that we have a garden, she can hardly be found elsewhere in the morning. And it's fine for me, too. I go out and work with a spade or hoe early every day in the spring and summer. Our table, because of the vegetables, is the envy of all our gardenless neighbors."

Planning the Garden

In laying out your garden it saves time to make an actual plan of it. Draw to scale. You will find it more agreeable to make your garden miscreant, than in the soil where the damage done is for the whole season. But if your garden is just for a few favorite vegetables, say, the plan takes on paper, where they can be planted so that the supply will be constant, instead of in bunches—enough for three families one week.

It is no easy task to arrange your garden space. It is limited much more satisfaction is to be had in growing a few things which the family particularly likes than in trying to crowd in the whole lot.

The possibilities of making the garden more or less of an ornamental feature are more than we realize. In many instances it may be worth while to sacrifice a part of the garden to aesthetic considerations.

Where the walks are bordered with turf, and a few fruit trees may be brought within bounds, very pleasing results can be obtained.

There is nothing more exasperating to the gardener than having a crop fail because of poor seed. Having varieties that grow well here; a dollar and a half will purchase the three implements needed—a hoe, a spade, and a rake; a load of manure with cost fifty cents—buy it from your milkman, or the man who brings you chickens from the country, or from anyone who has a barn or stable. Your whole outlay will be less than five dollars.

"Now, spread the manure over the embryonic garden plot. The ground may be hard and bare; then, of course, this means more work, but it can be turned into a garden, nevertheless.

"Take your spade and get busy. Dig deep—at least ten inches—and turn the manure under as you turn the earth up. Loosen the soil deeply and thoroughly.

"Then, get the rake. Go over the soil again; pulverize it; get it as 'mellow' as possible.

"Then you are ready to plant your seeds. Directions are on each package for this.

"It will take about a week or ten days for the seeds to come up. During this time, work hard to keep the ground loose and to keep the weeds out."

"In from seven to eight weeks, the plants will be matured and yielding. It's simple, but it does mean manual work. It also means the best kind of exercise, and after you once get interested, the keenest sort of enjoyment in watching things that you have planted grow. And you can't imagine, unless you are one of Atlanta's many gardeners, how infinitely better vegetables taste when grown by you on your own soil than those bought at a store."

Vegetables Grown Here

As to the vegetables that can be grown in Atlanta, their number is almost unlimited, thanks to the ideal climate here. Among the more common are beans, (butterbeans and other varieties), beets, radishes, lettuce, peas, okra, tomatoes, squash, cucumbers, sweet corn, onions, parsley, artichokes, large green peppers, carrots, turnips, and potatoes.

"All of these can be grown from seeds," said Mr. Letton, "but it is advisable to grow tomatoes from small plants. For to grow them from the seed, you have to start the young sprouts under glass or in boxes in the house, which is difficult to do. A dozen young plants is usually enough for an ordinary family. These cost from fifteen to twenty cents a dozen. They will begin to bear from two to two and a half months after planting, and will continue to bear until frost."

"Beyond weeding and keeping the earth loose and mellow, a garden does not need attention. By this I mean that there is no need, in the average garden, for spraying to kill bugs or insects. Bugs don't attack any vegetables except potatoes. Of course they have to be kept off of these."

An Enthusiastic Gardener

Among the thousands who own gardens in this city, one of the most enthusiastic and successful is Miss Nettie Asher, 275 Washington street.

"There are a great many nice things I would rather do without than my garden," said Miss Asher. "It furnishes us—and we are a large family—with many more vegetables than we can use. Some of them, like onions, we have all the year round. We have sweet corn all summer and until late in October, planting several times during the season."

"Snap beans, butterbeans, okra, cucumbers, squash—everything. In fact, that we like on the table grows in the garden."

"I love to work there so that oftentimes, during the day, when other housekeeping duties ought to keep me busy, I find myself with a hoe among the vegetables."

"We have a flower garden, which I keep with the vegetable garden. Right now I am planting sweet peas. And you'd be surprised to know how many of the vegetables are really flowers also."

"The bed of artichokes, blooming in October, is a mass of beautiful flowers, like bright brown candelas, or small, dark sunflowers. And the tops of the carrots, which come up in the early spring, with their curly leaves, mix beautifully with the sweet peas to form bouquets of the garden at the beginning of the season, which always should be done before the 15th of March. I do all of
